GERMANS NEARER COAST

FOCH RUSHES AID TO HAIG

FRENCH TROOPS ARRIVE ON FLANDERS FRONT

Washington, April 16.---The French reinforcements which Field Marshal Haig mentioned in his "back to the wall" order of the day of last Friday as being on their way in great strength to help stem the German tide in the north have begun arriving on the Flanders battle front, according to unofficial advices received here this afternoon. The French, it is stated, are ready to take their places beside the British in the attempt to prevent any further German advance toward the Channel ports.

By International News Service.

London, April 16.---Bailleul, one of the local objectives of the Germans on the Flanders battle front, has been taken by the Teutons, the British War Office reported today. Bailleul is 27 miles from Dunkirk.

Ever since last Saturday morning the Germans had been throwing huge forces of troops against Bailleul.

The attacks were concentrated along the Hazebrouck Railway in the sector of Merris and east of Neuve Eglise. The Germans planned by these thrusts to create a twin salient and "pocket" Bailleul, just as they did Armentieres.

Bailleul had been under German artillery fire for several days, and its loss by the British is not regarded as highly important from a military standpoint.

Fresh German attacks are developing in the Wytschaete sector, but have been repulsed, the official report added.

Wytschaete lies between six and seven miles north of Armentieres, in the sector of the Messines ridge.

The German attacks around Bailleul were delivered by three picked divisions. After a desperate struggle in which the British distinguished themselves by their brilliant defence, the Teutons succeeded in gaining high ground east and southeast of the town.

The British retired to previously prepared positions. Under heavy artillery fire fresh German attacks began southwest of Vieux Berequin, but were repulsed.

CAPTURED CREW OF U-BOAT ARRIVES IN AMERICA

An Atlantic Port, April 16.—The first German submarine crew captured by American naval forces, whose arrival in this country was exclusively first told by the International News Service on Saturday, came on the same boat that brought Secretary of War Baker home today. The fact that the Huns were aboard was carefully guarded for several hours after Baker was on his way to Washington. The prisoners number between 20 and 24 and were the crew of the German U-58, sunk by an American destroyer while the latter was convoying transports.

BILLION IN SIGHT FOR LOAN

Over 800 Millions From All but One Federal District in U. S.; Big Increase in New England

The first billion dollars has been subscribed to the Third Liberty Loan, according to unofficial estimates, and with one-third of the big drive spent the forces throughout the country are making redoubled efforts to bring about the over-subscription.

Officially the total is stated as $806,465,250 for eleven of the twelve Federal districts with the Minneapolis district yet to be heard from. Dispatches state that unprecedented individual subscriptions are being made, especially by the German-speaking residents of this district.

In New England the total for the seventh active day of the drive reached $80,296,000, or nearly one-third of the $250,000,000 of the district. The day's total was $11,706,000.

Massachusetts subscribers contributed over 80 per cent. of the day's total in the six States, or $9,175,000, Maine turned in $816,000, Rhode Island $687,000, Connecticut $574,000, New Hampshire $348,000 and Vermont $106,000.

The Bay State has now reached 30 per cent. of her quota with a total of $48,619,000.

158 ENTITLED TO FLAGS.

Twelve cities and towns throughout New England made their bids for honor flags today, making 158 towns and cities in all which have oversubscribed their quotas in the third loan.

In the nation the increase in subscriptions for the day amounted to $114,853,450.

St. Louis is leading the big cities of the country with 44 per cent. of its quota subscribed, amounting to $130,000,000.

The alleged apathy of the farmers is being denied in the most emphatic way by reports of subscriptions from the Southwest, Middle Western corn belt and from the sections stretching away to the Rockies.

Tacoma, Wash., claims to have a bondholder in every five persons of its population, and many other districts are holding back on their quotas because of plans to bring about 100 per cent. subscriptions.

CONNECTICUT IS SECOND.

The totals for the New England States, including the latest acknowledged subscriptions, make Connecti-

MERCURY DROPS A BIT, BUT IT'S 'FAIR WEATHER'

Local weather today performed another feat of ground and lofty tumbling when the mercury dropped from 57 at 1 a. m. to 47 at 10 o'clock. This was a decided change from the Summer temperatures of yesterday, which the esteemed forecaster had asured us would continue for a day at least.

Today Mr. Smith, forecasting at 8 a. m., opined that today and tomorrow would be fair, with showers Wednesday night. He also repeated his statement of yesterday that there would be not much change in temperature, while moderate, variable winds would prevail.

Mary Pickford to Speak for Army Ball Fund at Red Sox Game

Baseball "fans" and Pickford "fans," attention!

Mary Pickford, screen star of world-wide fame, will appear at the Red Sox-Athletics baseball game in Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon and will make a speech in behalf of the collection for the AMERICAN'S Camp Devens Baseball Fund, which is to be taken up during the game.

The Third Liberty Loan Committee of New England announced this today in giving out the official schedule of Miss Pickford's speaking tour in Boston tomorrow for the loan.

A THREEFOLD OPPORTUNITY.

Miss Pickford will be heard at Fenway Park at 3:30. After her appeal—and she is a mighty winning pleader in patriotic causes—a collection for the fund will be taken by women and girls, who will pass among the spectators.

It will be a threefold opportunity—see the baseball game, see and hear Miss Pickford, help the boys at Camp Devens toward a properly equipped baseball field.

Chance to triple, what!

The Boston AMERICAN is trying to get the people of New England to build at Camp Devens a grandstand and baseball field, where the men of

TEAR OUT KAISER IN SAUGUS? YES; 40c PER PAGE

School Committee Dislikes Destruction of Books, but the Penalty Is Light

Any pupil in the Saugus schools who objects to the picture of the Kaiser staring at him from the school books may blot it out from view by pasting a piece of paper over it. The school committee decided, however, that pupils would have to pay for damaging the books if the picture was torn out.

The decision was reached after a hearing in which Mrs. F. Cochrane of No. 2 Wendall street, Saugus, objected to paying twenty cents because her son Ralph had taken a dislike to the Kaiser's face and removed it.

The committee defended the action of the principal, claiming that the act was damaging town property.

John Beckwith, aged 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Beckwith of No. 35 Chestnut street, was fined forty cents for tearing the picture of the German war lord from a history.

BIG TORONTO ABATTOIR IS LEVELED BY FIRE

Toronto, Ont., April 16.—Fire of mysterious origin almost completely wrecked the big plant of the Harris Abattoir Company in West Toronto early today. The plant is valued at $1,500,000. The damage was given by plant officials at $500,000. The authorities investigated on the theory that the packing concern, engaged by the government for war work, was the object of attack by conspirators, but today believed the fire was the result of accident instead of design.

THIRD IN FAMILY FOR ROYAL FLYING CORPS

Albert Victor Letson, eighteen-year-old son of Captain H. F. Letson, shore superintendent for the Cunard Steamship Company, enlisted at the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission, No. 44 Bromfield street, today, in the Royal Flying Corps. He is the third member of his family to join this organization. He has been a student in the high school at Winthrop.

SEC. BAKER RETURNS HOME

Confident of Final Outcome of Struggle After Observation at Scene of Strife

By International News Service.

An Atlantic Port, April 16.—Supremely confident of the final outcome of the war, Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, personal representative in Europe for the past six weeks of President Woodrow Wilson, returned to the United States today. Mr. Baker left immediately for Washington to make a personal report to his chief.

The war secretary was admittedly impressed with the general seriousness of the situation now confronting the allied armies in northern France and that part of Belgium still retained by the Anglo-Belgian forces. But he was plainly optimistic over the inevitable result.

Details of what he found in his personal inspection must, of course, be left to be communicated to the President, who will determine whether they are to be communicated to the people of the country. But generally speaking the secretary indicated that he is certain that the cause of democracy yet will triumph.

Members of the secretary's staff who accompanied him declared that his investigations have been most thorough, and that he will make a number of specific recommendations to the President.

TO RUSH AERO PROGRAM.

It was understood that the secretary has been deeply impressed with the necessity of the United States hurrying up its aviation program. He received several important recommendations from the British and French aviation chiefs which are to be reflected in radical changes which

STOCKS DECLINE ON REPORT FROM FRONT

New York, April 16.—Nearly all the leading issues suffered losses of about one point after the initial dealings on the Stock Exchange and following the news of the capture of Bailleul by the Germans. Most of the selling came from room traders, and there was an absence of commission house business.

Steel common dropped 1 point to 90½ and about the same amount of loss was sustained in the other steel industrials. Distillers Securities, after selling up to 48¼, declined to 46⅞ and Tobacco Products declined from 55 to 53¾. International Paper was a strong feature, moving up ⅜ to 33⅝ on the favorable annual report. Railroad issues were fractionally lower.

CZERNIN TO COMMAND AN AUSTRIAN BRIGADE

London, April 16.—Count Czernin, who recently resigned as Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, has reentered the army and will command an Austrian brigade on the Italian front, said a dispatch from Copenhagen today.

Baker Is Proud of American Boys in France

By International News Service.

An Atlantic Port, April 16.—"I'm proud of the American boys in France. I would be glad to stay over there with them."

This was the assertion today of Secretary of War Baker as he arrived from an inspection tour in Europe.

"The American nation has every reason to be proud of them and to know they are upholding the greatest traditions of the republic."

SINK 10 GERMAN TRAWLERS IN BRITISH RAID

Naval Forces Make Brilliant Attack, London Admiralty Reports

By International News Service.

London, April 16.—British naval forces made a dashing raid into the Cattegat on Monday, sinking ten German trawlers, the Admiralty announced this afternoon.

The German crews were saved.

There were no British casualties.

The Cattegat lies between Sweden and Denmark and connects Skaggerack from the Baltic, through the Sound.

The daring British incursion broke a long lull that has existed in sea operations, except for the activity of German submarines. One of the latest sea raids was carried out by Germans several months ago, when they tried to break through the British defenses at the eastern end of the channel. Some small craft were sunk.

On another recent occasion German destroyers made a dash into the North Sea sinking a number of British and neutral ships. The British have frequently appeared off the German submarine base at Ostend and bombarded it.

LIVERPOOL SELLING AGAIN BEARS COTTON

New York, April 16.—Influenced by a break of 100 points in Liverpool, and rumors of declines on the curb there, there was a renewal of severe liquidation at the opening of the cotton market today, which forced old crop options down over 100 points, the whole list declining 44 to 113 points at the outset.

Liverpool was again a heavy seller at the start, but after the first break there was a quick and violent upturn of 28 to 70 points, due to heavy covering and support of new crop positions by Wall street interests. At the higher levels, however, new sellers appeared and checked further recoveries.

When July cotton touched 27.40 during the morning, it was off 640 points or $32 on the bale from the record price made April 4. The market rallied 50 to 10 points around noon.

The failure of Guy L. Schiffer, a prominent broker, was announced. His liabilities are not large.

AUSTRIANS REINFORCE GERMANS IN FLANDERS

London, April 16.—Austrians have reinforced the Germans on the Flanders front, according to wounded soldiers arriving here from the battle zone. The wounded are all cheerful and all are confident that the Germans will never break through.

U. S. RUSHING MANY TOOPS TO AID BRITISH

By International News Service.

Washington, April 16.—Probably the biggest troop movement in the history of the country is the response of the United States to appeals from the allies for men to fill the gaps created by the great struggle on the west front. Almost simultaneously with the latest plea, that of Foreign Secretary Balfour before the American Labor Mission in London, it was stated today by administration leaders that there is the utmost gratification with the speed at which troops are going forward.

In the training areas, where the big movement is in progress, everything is being sidetracked to permit the soldier trains free passage. In certain districts no civilian passenger trains have moved for many hours, it was revealed.

GERMANS, AFTER TERRIFIC STRUGGLE, CAPTURE TOWN OF BAILLEUL

INVADERS' ADVANCE WEDGE POINTS TO HAZEBROUCK, RAILWAY CENTRE

Southeast of Robecq the British conducted successful minor operations in which they captured a number of prisoners.

The official report follows:

"Preceded by an intense bombardment the Germans very heavily attacked our positions last night between Bailleul and Neuve Eglise. The assault was delivered by three picked divisions, not previously engaged, and succeeded, after a furious struggle, in carrying the high ground southeast and east of Bailleul, called Mont De Lille and Neulsberg.

"Our troops retired to new positions north of Mont De Lille and Wulverghem. Bailleul fell into the hands of the enemy.

"Fresh German attacks are developing this morning in the Wytschaete sector.

"The Germans also attacked southwest of Vieux Berquin under heavy artillery fire and fire from trench mortars, but were repulsed. We captured a number of prisoners during the night in successful minor operations southeast of Robecq."

FRENCH GUNS ACTIVE.

French forces made some progress in a local enterprise in the sector of Noyon, on the southern flank of the German salient opposite Amiens, the Paris War Office announced today.

South of Montdidier heavy artillery duels are raging.

"In the district south of Montdidier violent artillery combats are taking place," the communique said. "French reconnoitering parties were very active in the region of the Oise canal. One French detachment crossed the stream west of Pierrelande, capturing some prisoners and a machine gun."

36,000 Fresh German Troops Used in the Attack on Bailleul

By FRANK CHARLTON,
International News Service Cable Editor.

The battle of Flanders took on fresh intensity last night when the Germans attacked the Bailleul sector with 36,000 fresh picked troops and after a desperate struggle compelled the British to retire to a point north of Bailleul.

At the same time the Germans renewed their drive in the Wulverghem district, where the British, after gallant resistance, fell back to strong new positions to the north of that Belgian village.

AMIENS A FEINT.

Indications are piling up that the Germans planned their real grand offensive in the north and that the drive towards Amiens, while carried out on a scale of great magnitude, was a diversive movement to draw British troops to that sector from their positions defending the Channel coast, between Arras and Ypres.

Bailleul was one of the chief local objectives of the Germans on the road to Hazebrouck. The town, which had been battered to pieces by artillery fire, is six miles northwest of Armentieres; between eight and nine miles southeast of Hazebrouck and four miles from Neuve Eglise, which is also in German hands now. Bailleul is only twenty-seven miles from Dunkirk on the English Channel coast.

The town was gallantly defended and the British War Office in its official report today dwelt upon the ferocity of the struggle which raged around it. The Germans attacked the heights to the east in a "pocketing" movement such as they carried out at Armentieres. They were successful in overrunning the high ground, but lost heavily in so doing.

BATTLE FOR RIDGE.

The loss of Bailleul is of secondary importance to the allies. The town had been battered to pieces by German guns and is of little strategic consequence as a military railway point.

Further to the north, on the Flanders fighting line, the Germans have renewed their direct frontal attacks against the famous Messines ridge, the crest of which is still firmly in British hands.

Beginning this morning the Germans began assaulting in the Wytschaete section of the ridge, but the outcome of the fighting in that zone is not yet known.

(Wytschaete is between five and six miles north of Armentieres, lying directly north of the town of Messines).

The British carried out successful minor operations southeast of Robecq and captured some prisoners during the night.

(Robecq is about eleven miles southwest of Bailleul and the sector has been the scene of intense artillery duelling for the past few days).

Blasts of heavy artillery firing have marked the operations on the Picardy front east of Amiens. For the past week, however, the Germans have concentrated all their infantry operations on the Flanders plain.

YANKEES PUNISH HUNS POSING AS FRIENDS

Answer False "Gas" Alarm by Wholesale Slaughter—Bag Prisoners

By BERT FORD,
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

With the American Army in France, April 16.—In a battle on the east bank of the Meuse, near St. Mihiel, Germans, taking advantage of the darkness, posed as friends. In the darkness and confusion they sounded the gas alarm in English and attacked squads of Americans in the trenches as the latter were putting on their gas masks.

The Americans, however, were quick to discover the deception and to avenge it by wholesale slaughter.

In a little village just behind the lines the International News Service correspondent interviewed the victorious American infantrymen. Their clothes were smeared with mud and the bloodstains on their shoes, uniforms, gas masks and bayonets were grim reminders of the encounter. The men were tired but jubilant. They were eager to "mix it" again.

BLEW UP WIRE CUTTERS.

A private from Indiana had this to say:

"Right after the barrage I seen two Germans cutting the wire with long snippers. I spun a couple of grenades at 'em and blew 'em both to h—.

"I never had any time for baseball. I worked in a coal mine before I joined. I'm twenty-four. I kinder took to grenades. I was assigned to an automatic gun when the scrap began, but I can do more with grenades. I popped 'em in as fast as the fellows fed 'em to me. I used the grenades on those two Fritzes like I was throwing a spitball. Me for grenades."

A mail clerk who had listened to the young Hoosier's story gave him a wooden box plastered with stamps.

"That's from my mother," said the mail clerk. "She sends 'em to me regular. Know what's inside? Chocolates and tobacco. That's all right. You're sure welcome, after such a fight."

A private, who hails from New York, gave a choice description of his experiences. He said:

HUNS SHOOT AUSTRIANS.

"Some Hun behind me walloped me over my helmet with the butt of his rifle, but I swung around and fixed him for good—which means I left him dead. Then I was just in time to help bag a couple of prisoners. They said they had come from the Russian front. They also said some Austrians had been shot because they didn't want to come to the western front to help the Germans.

"These prisoners were very hungry, so they got water and bread. This was the first scrap I've been in. The enemy was yellow. They cried when they were caught. Wounded soldiers lay all around, and their moaning sounded weird.

"Seeing several of our platoon wounded made us fight like demons. A corporal from Massachusetts helped a corporal from Chicago out of a tight place."

SHOT ONE BAYONETED OTHER.

A private from Pennsylvania, who used to be a miner, killed two Germans. He shot one and bayoneted the other. Here is his own story:

"These two Germans were chattering French and English in the dark. They kept saying, 'Cease firing,' and shouted, 'Gas.' They knew, of course, that the wind didn't favor gas.

"I said to myself, 'While them guys is preaching gas I'm going to get in my licks.' I've been a hunter for years, and I was born in Italy. I plugged one of the Germans in the bean as he was going to stab one of our fellows. The other came at me, so I ran my bayonet through him.

"How did I feel killing the first man? I didn't mind killing these Germans when I thought of what they had done to women and children.

GOT PRISONER AND MATCH.

"I captured two prisoners. I asked a platoon mate for a match. He replied, "I'll give you one if you get another German prisoner,' and I did. He was a guy six feet four, whose leg was wounded. Them guys don't stand up and fight. They're alright in crowds, but they quit cold when they get in hand-to-hand fighting.

"A bunch of Germans had some of our fellows prisoners when our guys passed the word for a rush, and we got the gang away from the Germans. I don't want a medal; I want more Germans."

A private from (word deleted) said:

"I was a courier in the fight. It was tall scrapping all right. Our fellows sure did give 'em a licking. I'm seventeen. I worked as a mess boy at Fort Benjamin Harrison. I wanted to see the fun over there, so I joined the army in the first inning. No, I wasn't scared a bit. German bodies are lying thick out there.

"You ought to have seen us. We got a fine young harvest of souvenirs. I got a belt with a buckle labelled, 'Gott Mit Uns.' A lot of us got new trench daggers. This was my first battle, and, believe me, I'm anxious for the next one."

NO U. S. MARINES LANDED IN SIBERIA

Washington, April 16.—No American marines were landed at Vladivostok and the American consul did not ask protection from the American cruiser in that harbor.

Word to this effect was received by the State Department this afternoon from Ambassador Francis, in a dispatch apparently sent subsequent to the reported landing of American marines at the Russian port.

Ambassador Francis was reported to have issued a statement saying that the landing of Japanese at Vladivostok was in accordance with an international agreement. The State Department this afternoon stated that this appears to have been erroneous, and gave out the statement which Mr. Francis made public upon being asked what was the position of this government concerning the landing of Japanese and British marines at Vladivostok and in which he referred to the fact that no Americans had landed.

"The Soviet government and the Soviet press," the ambassador said, "are giving too much importance to the landing of these marines, which has no political significance, but merely was a police precaution taken by the Japanese admiral on his own responsibility for the protection of Japanese life and property.

Value goes up as price goes down!
Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Explain? Certainly: Just note how low our automatic plan forces us to price these girls' all wool serge coats at $6.90. If they remain unsold at the end of 12 selling days our automatic markdown reduces the price 25% to $5.17. This gives you the same article for less money—therefore every cent buys more value. Then, if at the end of 18 selling days these coats remain unsold, we reduce them 50% to $3.45—giving you still greater value for every cent. At the end of 24 selling days, they go down still further, 75% to $1.72—making every cent count for still more. Goods remaining after 30 selling days must be given away!

We would not advise you to wait for the automatic markdown—the first price is so attractive that these coats will sell quickly—probably long before the first markdown.

MILLION FOR FARE RESERVE

President Brush Tells Legislative Committee How Money Provided Would Be Used

President Matthew C. Brush today stated to the legislative Committee on Ways and Means that $2,000,000 will be put into new equipment to build up the service of the Boston Elevated Street Railway as soon as the road is taken over by the people.

This money must be raised for improvement of the service under the terms of the public control bill, President Brush said.

The public trustees will raise $3,000,000 by a stock issue. Of this amount $2,000,000 will be used for the purchase of new equipment and the other $1,000,000 will be put into a reserve fund which will serve as the fares barometer under the service-at-cost plan.

President Brush's statement was made in response to a question by Representative Benjamin Loring Young of Weston when the Ways and Means Committee began an exhaustive study of the public control bill reported by the joint committees on Street Railways and Metropolitan Affairs.

ON VERGE OF BANKRUPTCY.

The session was devoted in the main to a detailed description of the bill by Senator James E. MacPherson of Framingham, chairman of the joint committee. Among the interesting statements made by Senator MacPherson were:

"The Elevated is on the verge of a receivership.

"Its credit is destroyed, its service is poor and the people are distrustful of its management in private hands.

"Its credit can be repaired, its service can be improved and the confidence of the people can be restored by giving the public control over the management and operation of the property through a board of public trustees appointed by the Governor and the Mayor of Boston."

Senator MacPherson said:

"What is the matter with the L? Ninety out of every 100 people on the street will tell you that the service is poor. The service in the other cities along the Atlantic coast is the same, but it is a fact that the people are not getting the service to which they are entitled.

400 CARS TIED UP.

"We learned that as many as 400 cars were tied up in the car barns during the past Winter, which was the most severe in the history of the country. The company was unable to get materials or labor. The war was in part responsible. The purchasing power of the nickel has diminished. Rails alone cost 300 per cent. more than a year ago. The labor expenses of the company increased $500,000 in the year.

"The fundamental cause of the Elevated's situation was the fact that its hands are tied by the agreement which it made not to raise the fares above five cents for twenty-five years. It has been unable to take care of the depreciation and obsolenscence of its property. In three months last year the income it received was insufficient to meet the most of operation. And its credit has become poor.

"We found nothing fraudulent. We found no water in the stock. We found no evidence of gross mismanagement.

"However, the public distrusts the present management, and the public will not be satisfied unless there is public control of this great property. Some are not yet ready for public ownership. The next step is public control.

MUST BE GUARANTEES.

"If the public is going to take control over property that is privately owned, the public must guarantee and safeguard the property to the owners. We therefore provided for service at cost.

"Public control and service at cost will re-establish the credit of the road. It will restore public confidence. It will provide better service. It will take the Elevated off the verge of a receivership.

"There has been one investigation after another. This time something must be done, in a constructive way. We must bear in mind that President Wilson has pointed out that good transportation is indispensable to the winning of the war."

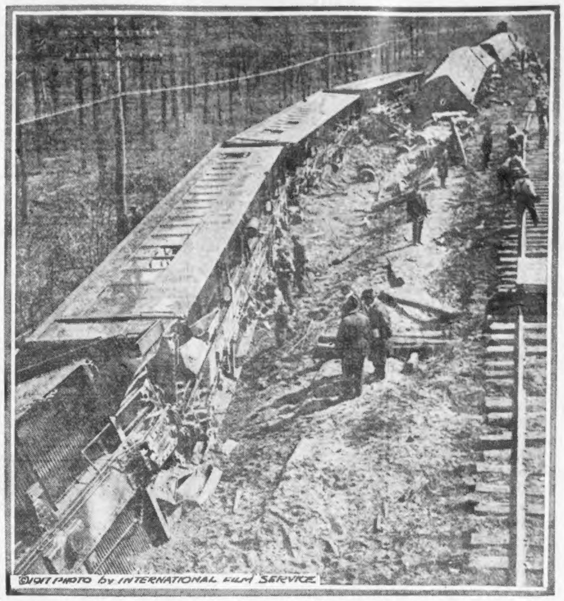
WRECKED LONG ISLAND TRAIN IN WHICH THREE SOLDIERS WERE KILLED



Overturned cars two miles from Central Islip after fatal derailment yesterday. The coaches were filled with army men going home from Camp Upton, ten miles away, on furlough. Forty were injured.

SAYS CYCLOPS COMMANDER WAS GERMAN

By International News Service, San Francisco, April 16.—Mrs. A. M. Angermann, sister of Lieutenant-Commander G. W. Worley, commander of the missing collier Cyclops, declared here that he was German by birth and had his name changed from Wickmann to Worley when he joined the navy twenty years ago.

Washington, April 16.—Belief is growing in naval circles that the United States collier Cyclops, missing since March 4, was the victim of an explosion caused by a bomb, "planted" on the vessel at her last port of call.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels allows it to be stated that the last place at which the collier touched was Barbados in the West Indies.

The theory that is gaining ground is that a German spy, in possession of the facts of the cargo of manganese carried by the Cyclops, managed to place a bomb in the cargo and get ashore without detection. A time bomb could be so adjusted as not to explode until the vessel was well out to sea, and beyond reach of rescuers.

The fact that not a trace of the vessel or any member of its crew or passenger list has been found, has led to the conclusion that if an explosion did occur, it was of such magnitude as to leave no hope for any aboard her.

The Navy Department issued the following statement:

"No tidings have been received from the missing collier Cyclops. The last dispatch received from her was dated March 4, when she arrived at Barbadoes West Indies to take on bunker coal and proceed the next day for an American Atlantic port."

Bars Frieda Hempel from Singing in Des Moines

Des Moines, Ia., April 16.—Governor Harding has issued an order prohibiting Frieda Hempel, the German prima donna, from appearing in concert in Des Moines, where she was booked to sing Tuesday night. His action followed a storm of protest against her appearance. He intimated that she may not be allowed to sing in the State.

FIRE FIGHTERS WILL HELP WIN WITH GARDENS

Eight Hundred in Boston Department to Raise Bumper Crops

Boston's fire fighters are out to win the war.

They are already first-class Liberty Bond holders.

Now they are to conduct War Gardens.

Over 800 of the firemen have announced their intention of maintaining gardens. Some will work individually and others will work with the fire house units.

Victor A. Heath, Public Safety Committee chairman, appeals to all property owners who have vacant plots near fire houses to turn such space over to the firemen.

Now that the men are working under the one-day-off-in-three-basis, they will be able to devote much more time to their gardens. Mr. Youngman, the city's farm manager, is pleased at the firemen's announcement. He states that these "fellows and the Boston Elevated carmen are among the best citizen farmers. They produced great crops last year."

In the meantime ploughing at Franklin Park is progressing rapidly, under the supervision of Mr. Shea, acting park commissioner, and Mr. Youngman. An automobile tractor is expected soon and this will speed things up.

The Food Production Committee, Mr. G. B. Johnson, chairman, will announce the assignment of plots within a few days.

WOMAN TAKES PLACE AS LETTER CARRIER

New York, April 16.—Princess Bay, Staten Island, has a woman letter carrier. Mrs. Sadie H. Schmidt has started on the route, using an automobile. Seven men in succession had resigned the job within a year. They said the $50 a month attached to it was not enough to pay for gasoline. There had been no deliveries since September, and some residents had walked eight miles for their mail.

MUNITION PLANT WORKERS HURT IN CAR WRECK

Springfield Trolley Jumps Track on Hill, Overturns; Three Men in Hospital

Springfield, April 16.—Fifteen munitions workers were injured when a workmen's trolley car jumped the track coming down the Locust street grade today, jounced for 200 feet over the pavement, slued violently, caught on the other track and tipped over on its side.

These men were taken to the Hampden Hospital.

DRISCOLL, FREDERICK A., motorman, No. 28 Everett street, left shoulder and ankle injured.

Fourteen other munitions workers beside Craig received lesser injuries. Some returned to their homes; others took the next car to the Westinghouse plant at East Springfield, where they are employed.

The car was one of the "Westinghouse specials" run for factory workers. It carried about twenty-five passengers. No women or girls were aboard.

When the car tipped over the windows, front vestibule and the seats were smashed. Some of the passengers in the vestibule saved themselves by jumping while the car was on its runaway course.

ACCUSED OF THEFT IN BREAKS AT WINTHROP

Two young men were arrested today by Chief of Police Elsworth Kerrell of Winthrop on charges of breaking and entering Winthrop houses. They are Harry B. Hopkins, nineteen, of Lynn, and Thomas A. Moore, eighteen, of Winthrop. Both were charged with stealing a ring and money valued at $15 from the home of William Score, No. 14 Wave Way avenue. Hopkins was also charged with larceny of $80 worth of goods from the home of Samuel Holzwasser, No. 36 Wave Way avenue, and $240 worth of property from the home of George J. Frankenstein, No. 46 Hawthorne avenue. The property was recovered.

AUTOIST, UNDER ARREST, SPEEDS TO HIS DEATH

New York, April 16.—After being served with a summons for speeding in Yonkers, Malcolm Imrie, a Bronxville automobile dealer, drove to his death. A motor cycle policeman chased him four miles to Hastings before serving the summons. Imrie continued his trip and then turned back. Almost at the spot where the summons had been served he dashed into a fire engine. He was found in the wreck of his machine with his skull fractured.

EATONS LOVING COUPLE, SAYS MRS. KIDD

Sister-in-Law by Former Marriage Says Widow of Restaurateur Never Touched Liquor

The late Charles S. Eaton, proprietor of Thompson's Spa, and his wife were always affectionate and never disagreed, according to the testimony today in the Supreme Court of Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Kidd of Tivoli, N. Y.

Mrs. Kidd, who is a daughter of the late General William F. Bartlett, and whose brother was Mrs. Ella F. Eaton's first husband, testified in the suit brought by executors of Charles S. Eaton to restrain his widow from contesting his will.

The witness said she had known Mrs. Eaton fifteen years, that she had never known her to drink intoxicants, and that Mr. Eaton had always spoken highly of his wife. A touch of additional interest was brought into the trial by the presence in court of Ezra and Charles Eaton, clad in army uniforms.

TELLS OF SUMMER OF 1915.

Mrs. Kidd spent the Summer of 1915 at Manchester, and while there saw much of Mr. and Mrs. Eaton, and frequent visits were interchanged. Mrs. Kidd related a conversation which took place one evening on the piazza of Mr. Eaton's house at Marblehead, in which Mr. Eaton spoke of the impression made on him when he first met Mrs. Eaton at Pasadena.

At that time he was in search of a house and hired one owned by Mrs. Eaton. Mr. Eaton thought the house was artistic and well kept, and spoke in the highest terms of Mrs. Eaton. He told Mrs. Kidd that he had not intended to marry again, but had changed his mind after meeting Mrs. Eaton. He said that Mrs. Eaton and himself had together planned the Pasadena house, and sheet by sheet he went over the plans with Mrs. Kidd, explaining in detail every part of the residence.

"Did Mr. Eaton speak of his wife in connection with the house?"

"Yes; he seemed to be very proud of the artistic taste shown by Mrs. Eaton."

"What was his attitude toward her?"

"He was very affectionate to her and always addressed her as 'Peg.'"

SAW NO DISAGREEMENT.

Asked if Mrs. Eaton seemed to consider the comfort of her husband, Mrs. Kidd replied that when he came from Boston in the afternoon she often motored over to some station, so as to break the long railroad ride from Boston. At no time, Mrs. Kidd said, did she see the least indication of disagreement between Mr. and Mrs. Eaton. Ezra was often at the Marblehead house, and he and Mrs. Eaton appeared to be on the best of terms.

Asked if Mrs. Eaton was accustomed to using liquor, Mrs. Kidd said that in the fifteen years she had known Mrs. Eaton she never saw her take a drink, although at dinner wine was upon the table.

Depositions taken in favor of Mrs. Eaton and which were to have been used in the divorce action brought by Mr. Eaton against her, were then read by Mr. Choate as showing the good opinion of Mrs. Eaton in Pasadena.

BANK CLERK SANDBAGGED AND ROBBED OF $2,000

New York, April 16.—A daring hold-up was successfully carried out on Broadway at Seventy-fourth street in plain sight of many persons when the deposit clerk of the Boulevard Amusement Company, on his way to a bank, was sandbagged and robbed of $2,000. The thieves escaped in a high-powered automobile, although immediate chase was given by taxis and private cars.

Edward Goodman, twenty-two, the clerk, dropped to the pavement when struck from behind by one of two men. The other grabbed the satchel carried by Goodman and both robbers sprang into an automobile which stood by the curb with engine throbbing.

GET THREE MONTHS ON A DRUG CHARGE

Frank Watson, twenty-seven, and George Reynolds, both of the South End, were each given three months sentence by Judge Burke of the Municipal Court for having narcotic drugs in their possession. Sergeant Anderson testified that he found drugs in a chimney hole in their room after he had removed the tin plate covering up the hole.

The court sentenced Watson to the House of Correction and Reynolds to the Charles Street Jail.

Henry McNamara, another alleged drug user, was sentenced to three months for having a needle in his possession.

INJURED, RESUMES JOB, BUT GOES TO HOSPITAL

William Johnson, a teamster, of No. 22 Sawyer street, while unloading cement in front of No. 45 Maiden street, South End today, fell from the wagon to the ground, striking on his head. He was treated at the East Dedham street station for contusions of the scalp. Returning to work he was taken with convulsions, and this time he was removed to the City Hospital, where, it was said, he is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

GERMANS AGAIN SHELL PARIS; WOMAN KILLED

Paris, April 16.—The Germans again bombarded Paris today. One woman was killed.

Assigned to Camp Raritan

Sergeant Chester M. Richer has returned from Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., to the Department of the Northeast, and will be assigned to Camp Raritan, New Jersey.

BAKER IS BACK FROM VISIT TO WAR FRONT

Secretary in Record-Breaking Passage Home, Rushes From Dock to Washington

will be made in Washington almost immediately. One of these will be to have the American aeroplanes absolutely standardized so that parts will be interchangeable with the new British and French types.

The secretary also will make certain very important suggestions in connection with the American artillery arm of the service. More and more machine guns of the Browning type are to be rushed across to arm the American soldiers who are to take their places on the battle front at once. In addition certain types of heavy artillery which have proven their worth on the battle front are to be constructed here and sent overseas.

The secretary and his staff had only the warmest praise for the work of General Pershing and his army. The action of General Pershing in tendering to the allies the entire American strength for use as the supreme war council saw fit was pointed to as the best evidence of the disinterested position which the United States has assumed in the war.

U. S. WILL TURN TIDE.

General Foch's appointment as generalissimo of the allied armies was characterized as the greatest single step which the United States and its co-belligerents have taken to win the war.

Because of reasons which are most obvious the secretary and staff could not discuss the plans which this great French expert on military strategy has evolved to meet the present dangerous situation, but it was emphasized that the coming six weeks will be momentous in the extreme.

Secretary Baker will reach Washington about 6 o'clock tonight, and will seek an early appointment with the President, at which he will present the result of his observations abroad. Pending that conference, his attitude was summed up by one of his fellow passengers:

"The American army and navy will swing the balance of power in the present war. The German military machine, now at its zenith, will be checked when the time comes. The fate of democracy is in the balance, but the allied nations, assisted by the entire resources of the United States, will dominate the situation when the last gun is fired."

RECORD TRIP BACK.

Secretary Baker came back on a former German liner now in the American transport service.

Secretary Baker left for Washington immediately to present the latest word of the battle to President Wilson. Until he has completed his mission it is not expected that he will discuss his trip overseas.

After a race across the Atlantic at a speed said to have given the Secretary of War a record passage of five days flat, the big transport nosed her way into the harbor in a heavy mist and slipped to her pier early today without salute or demonstration.

It was a former German ship, one of the best, and it is understood in its present passage two hours were cut from the best previous record for passage from France.

Being a transport, the ship did not have to wait for the usual customs inspections. No inkling of its coming had been received, further than a cryptic notice to the customs officials last night to send men to inspect baggage of a vessel at the docks early today.

The vessel brought back other passengers than Secretary Baker and his party. Many of these, it is understood, were American officers on leave or returning from missions abroad or from trips of inspection along the American sectors of the front.

While these men were held aboard during customs formalities the Secretary of War was rushed from the gangplank to a waiting taxi and whirled away to board a special train for Washington.

Secretary Baker returned home on the same boat which carried Colonel House back to the United States from one of his missions abroad as the personal representative of President Wilson.

SAT IN WAR COUNCIL.

Secretary Baker went abroad ostensibly to inspect the American forces in France and England. It was emphasized in the official announcement of his departure that his mission "was entirely of a military character." However, during his stay in Europe he conferred with all of the leading British and French military experts and statesmen and brings home with him, to be submitted to President Wilson, the consensus of their views of what is necessary to win the war.

Secretary Baker personally "sat in" with the supreme war council at Versailles, and he brings back to this country for President Wilson's information the complete program adopted for the allied armies by that body, on which General Tasker H. Bliss is the permanent representative of the United States.

The War Secretary, before sailing for this country, also conferred with General Foch, the French generalissimo, and knows exactly what that military chieftain believes the United States should do as its part in the present conflict.

To Call 1,500,000 Men to Colors by End of Present Year

Washington, April 16.—With the return of Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who has been inspecting American forces in Europe and conditions in general along the western front, important official conferences are to be held.

Impressive estimates for army increases, which were prepared in advance of his coming, await his approval.

Minimum estimates already have been prepared by the War Department for presentation to Congress. They provide for expansion on a scale that would give the United States an army of approximately 3,000,000 men by the end of 1918.

The law requires that requests for legislation of this character have the approval of the Secretary of War. The absence of Mr. Baker, however, has not delayed the program. Members of the House Military Affairs Committee in touch with the situation have approved the steps already taken to hurry draft recruits in the cantonments for equipment and training.

The official report of the adjutant general on April 1 revealed that the army contained 1,528,924 men at the close of the first year of American participation in the war. It was then estimated no more than an additional 500,000 would be called before next year.

Conditions changed so rapidly and the demands for man power on the western front have become so great it is already announced [illegible] draft registrants will be called to the colors during the month of April.

Conservative estimates now fix the number to be called this year at not less than 1,500,000.

This means that the big departments which must provide supplies and equipment have had their work increased approximately 100 per cent within the last fifteen days. If it is estimated now that the army will number 3,000,000 by January, 1919, it means that supplies of uniforms, guns and all equipment must be obtained for a force of that size.

MISS KATHERINE G. WALTON of Wakefield, senior head of archery at Wellesley, who found herself vulnerable when in action with the god of love.

Miss Katherine G. Walton of Wakefield, senior head of archery at Wellesley College, has proved a fair target for Dan Cupid, the master archer of them all.

Her engagement to Lieutenant Louis H. Wallace, Dartmouth, 1916, who is now in France, has just been announced.

Her college mates are making appropriate remarks about "love's arrow in the heart," "cupid's bow," also "Cupid's beau," "a fair hit," and so on.

Miss Walton is a songster as well as an archer. She is a member of the college choir. Also she is an officer of the Tau Zeta Epsilon Society. She will complete her college course this June.

U. S. HAS THOUSANDS OF AIRMEN, NO PLANES

Washington, April 16.—The War Department has several thousand trained aviators on its hands and doesn't know what to do with them. Almost daily commanders of flying schools in the South report that more students have been graduated and are ready to receive commissions and orders for service. As the government has no machines for these men and sees no hope for any great number in the immediate future from the British and French factories, it is believed that many of the volunteers will be sent to their homes to await further orders.

DERAILED CAR DELAYS TRAFFIC ON THE B. & M.

A car of a Boston & Maine freight train jumped the track between Wedgemere and West Medford early today, tying up inbound traffic for more than half an hour, and causing commuters to be late to work.

Pending the arrival of the wrecking train, inbound trains were diverted at Wedgemere to the outbound tracks.

WIFE COMFORTS RIVAL FOUND WITH THOMAS

Serious Charges to Be Made Against Chicago Professor and Army Officer's Bride

Chicago, April 16.—Warrants charging a serious offense on the part of Professor William I. Thomas, sociologist, and Mrs. R. M. Granger, wife of an army officer now in France, will be asked, it was stated today.

Professor Thomas was suspended from the faculty of Chicago University following the arrest of the couple in a local hotel where they had registered as man and wife.

The well-known sociologist and free thinker appeared in the Morals Court where a continuance was taken at the request of his attorney, Peter Bissman, who said he lacked time to prepare the case.

FORGOT SORROW SOON.

Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago, where Dr. Thomas holds the chair of sociology, was expected to return from Washington today. Faculty members prepared a formal statement of the case for him. It is understood to be a resume of facts admitted to Federal officials. These include the sailing of Lieutenant Granger for France, the farewell of his wife, and the immediate surcease of her sorrow which she found in the company of Dr. Thomas. Also the events at the hotel Thursday night when they were taken into custody, and the charge which brought the professor into the Morals Court.

"SILLY BOY" IS 55.

Mrs. Granger, who is 24, with a small child at her mother's home in Texas, while the professor is 55, is still at the home of Mrs. Thomas. She was said to be too ill to appear in court, and her shattered nerves are being soothed by the professor's wife and his son, who is a hospital interne.

Mrs. Thomas calls her husband "a silly boy" and the girl wife she characterizes as a "silly little thing." She has long since given up all hope of shaking her husband's advanced views on the relations between the sexes, and regards him as a spoiled child. In the meantime, Dr. Thomas' lecture courses at the University of Chicago have been cancelled, and it is understood that his connection with the institution will be severed.

RICH MERCHANT, 64, ADOPTS GIRL AGED 23

By International News Service.

New York, April 16.—Carl Von Pustau, a wealthy retired merchant who lives at the Hotel Chelsea, yesterday adopted his secretary, Miss Irene von Pustau, who was formerly Irene McManus. She is just twenty-three years old. Legal adoption papers were filed yesterday before Surrogate Cohalan. Mr. von Pustau was a very happy father when the transaction was finished. He made it clear that the girl has the legal right to use her father's name, and that she is his co-heir with his two sons, William and Carl Pustau.

THIRD TRIAL FOR HENRI DESLOVERS

Providence, April 16.—Henri Deslovers, who faced a jury on two occasions in connection with the "Woonsocket Headless Mystery," will be tried for the third time the latter part of June, according to agreement by counsel with the Attorney-General's department.

Deslovers was found guilty at the first trial nearly five years ago and appealed for a new trial, which was allowed. The second trial held a year ago resulted in a disagreement.

Deslovers is charged with beheading Angele Parmentier and throwing the headless body in the Blackstone River. He has always maintained his innocence.

MAYOR URGES STORE PEOPLE TO BUY BONDS

More than 300 shopgirls, clerks and other employes of the R. H. White Co. stayed after hours and listened to Mayor Peters, Manager George Johnson of the store, and Lieutenant Jones of the Black Watch regiment make a plea for the unmitigated success of the third Liberty Loan.

"Wars are not won by armies alone today," said Mayor Peters. "Wars are won by peoples. There are only a limited number who can fight on the battlefield, only a limited number who can bear or form one of a gun crew on the firing line. But everyone of us can do his or her part toward the winning of wars, toward the winning of this war for the salvation of our democracy.

"This is our war, it is yours and mine. We want everyone of us to feel we have taken part in it, to feel that we have done our share."

RUTGERS BACK OF PLAN FOR WOMEN'S COLLEGE

New Brunswick, N. J., April 16.—The trustees of Rutgers College it was announced by President Demarest have authorized the establishment of a woman's college as a department of the State university of New Jersey. President Demarest said a name soon will be given the woman's college to distinguish it from the men's undergraduate department of Rutgers college.

FINDS LAW VIOLATED IN LABELING "GRAPE"

Washington, April 16.—Use of the word "compound" on the label of a food or drug package does not confer on the manufacturer the right to use other deceptive language on the same label, the Supreme Court has decided. The high court reversed the decision of the lower court, which acquitted Joseph L. Snyder of the charge of misbranding and of selling imitations. Snyder labelled his product "compound essence of grape," though it contained "nothing related to the grape," according to Justice McReynolds' opinion.

MUST TELL HOW $20,000 IS TO BE USED

Public Safety Budget Held Up While Appropriations Are Being Itemized

Mayor Peters' order calling for $20,000 for the Public Safety Committee has been postponed until next Monday's meeting of the City Council, as certain members demand that the appropriation be itemized.

The order called for a lump sum. Councillors Ford and Hagan stated that in view of the fact that a segregated budget is in vogue the Public Safety appropriations should be treated like other departments.

The secretary has been instructed to notify Mayor Peters who in turn will request Victor A. Heath, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, to itemize his appropriations.

William Turtle, attorney for the Welsbach Lighting Company, 100 employes of which have been on a strike since last December, appeared before the Council and laid before that body certain tentative plans in an effort to bring about a settlement.

After two hours of argument, no definite plan had been accepted. Next Monday Mr. Turtle will give the council a final word on just what the company will agree to.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush your kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders, come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or, if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

FINDS AMERICAN WOMEN IN WAR EXCEL MEN

Put More Effort Into Work, Have Deeper Feeling, Says Lieutenant Milsom

By CONSTANCE WILLIAMS.

"American women are putting more into the war than the men." That is what Lieutenant Harry Milsom told me. He is here in the interests of the British recruiting mission.

"They have a more oriental turn of mind," Lieutenant Milsom said. "They feel more deeply than the men. They knew at the beginning of the war just where they stood, and once they knew that they didn't hold back. That is why they are doing such wonderful work.

"Men are creatures of habit—it was lots harder for them to get the new point of view that the war demanded," he went on to say. "They hung to the things that they were used to as long as they could. But when the time came—and that is the important part—they responded.

"It is this response of the American people as a whole that appeals to me so strongly. And I notice it especially in Boston."

BOSTON UNDERSTANDS.

Lieutenant Milsom likes Boston so much that he hates to leave. He is going to Washington to speak and to meet the President.

"Boston audiences," he said, "may not be as noisy as others that I have addressed in this country, but I can see that they feel as deeply. They seem to have a large understanding of what is needed of them, and that is more than half way to doing what is needed.

"I have spoken to over fifty thousand people here, in and about Boston, and from the variety of audiences I can see that the whole American people is behind what the country is doing. Factory audiences and industrial firms impressed me especially, and I have since learned that my feelings in regard to them were well founded. For instance, a certain factory in Wilmington has increased its output of iron rivets—things that are needed in order to build ships and other things necessary for winning the war—by a large per cent.

"It is when a practical answer like this is made to a talk, that one knows how the audience felt. And it is recation of this sort that we need. This is no time for sentimantality.

WERE NOT PREPARED.

"At first America was rather hysterical about the war. That was only while the people were getting adjusted. They were trying to do everything at once, but they were not prepared. The rapidity with which preparations were made will always be a mystery and an inspiration to the other fighting nations.

"America has just gone into this," said the Lieutenant. "But she has gone in with all her heart, and you'll be proud of her yet."

Lieutenant Milsom has had a great many experiences in his twenty-seven months in the trenches. "But," he says, "they are no different from the things that others have gone through, so I will not speak of them."

He has been gassed, though, and wounded, and was promoted to his lieutenancy under fire. He is subject to call any time now.

"Back into the trenches," he told me, "that is where every able-bodied man belongs in these days. Any man that has once been in the thick of it feels that—he knows that. And he knows that it is not only his duty but his privilege to return to it.

MAKING OF PATRIOTS.

"There is something about fighting out there in the trenches—in the mud and wet and horror, that changes a man," the lieutenant concluded. "It makes him think less of himself, and more of the country that he is fighting for. However a man may feel when he goes out, he is a patriot when he returns. That is how we have felt it, and American is going to feel the same.

"America has just gone in, but her men are proving that they have the spirit that will win out in the end, and they are showing that patriotism and love of country can make one out of even a mixed race like theirs.

"I have talked to over two hundred thousand Americans in the last eight weeks, and I know that the world will be proud of their country before very long."

Fay, New Clerk at Upton

Upton, April 16.—John B. Fay was elected town clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Francis T. Nelson by a vote of 111 to 81 for George Z. Williams. Walter P. Grandy was elected constable.

COUNTRY MUST WAKE UP, SAYS MRS. SAYRE

President's Daughter Speaks on Apathy as a Drawback to Democracy

"The men abroad are fighting for democracy. Are we here in this country going to let them do it all alone, or are we going to turn to and help?"

Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, President Wilson's daughter, who spoke at the New England Conservatory of Music in behalf of the movement for the North American Students Mobilizing for Christian World Democracy, put strongly our present apathy, and the need for waking up.

"The question is," Mrs. Sayre said, "What is Democracy? Some people think that there is no such thing. One man I know says that even if there were a democracy there should not be one. But there is a democracy. This country is one; and our men and the men of the other nations at war are fighting for democracy.

"We have no perfect one yet," Mrs. Sayre went on to say.

COMPLACENCY A SIN.

"Complacency is the greatest sin. We cannot stop to think how perfect we are. We aren't perfect, and if we stop we will lose ground. We have to keep running all the time. We have to run to stay even where we are, and if we are to get forward, to make any progress, we have to run faster still. To stop means to slip back, and then—we have to begin all over again.

"But if people work hard, with all that is in them, they cannot help getting along. If they don't there is something wrong. I have seen in the same districts, two families, getting the same wages. One of these families lived in a hovel—they were dirty, poverty stricken and despairing. The other had a clean home. Everything was beautiful—you would have liked to live there with them.

"But one of this family lost his position. That little difference changed life for them. They sank into the same conditions that their neighbors had. There was something wrong there.

KNOWLEDGE AND ACTION.

"And wrongs like this should be corrected," said Mrs. Sayre. "Kind words and sympathy won't do it. They won't do it alone, that is. Knowledge must follow, and after that the will to act. The two come together. It is not true, that old saying, that 'it makes no difference what you think, as long as you act.'

"Thinking plays a bigger part now than it ever did before. The men over there in the trenches think. We say 'we havn't time;' but they have time. They crowd the religious meetings. And they want to know that we are helping them here to keep clean and bright the standards and characteristics that their religion teaches them we should have.

"There is nothing more beautiful in a man's eyes than the ideal he has of the girl he wants to marry. It is up to that girl to see that his ideal is not spoiled—that the standard he has set is not in any way lowered. That is one way the problems of today strike those of us who are left behind. But we have to think.

NEVER GOT ANYWHERE.

"You are all girls," Mrs. Sayre smiled. "I remember when I was a girl at college. I used to think that I was too busy to do anything more. But now I look back, and see the hours that I talked. But the things that I talked of didn't amount to anything. They molded my mind, they changed my ideas. But they never got anywhere.

"And now is the time that our thoughts must get somewhere. It is man on man that makes an army invincible. It is thought on thought that is going to bring democracy to a perfect state. And we must be directed in our thought.

"We can not let the men who are thinking over in the trenches come back to find an apathetic crowd at home. We must let him know that those he is willing to die for have been keeping up with him. We must let him find comrades who have been fighting shoulder to shoulder with him in his struggle for world democracy."

MAY FIX TIN PRICE TO STABILIZE PRODUCTION

Washington, April 16.—The dwindling supply of tin in this country was taken up by the War Industries Board with thirty manufacturers who use tin in their products. The discussions of the first of probably of a week's sessions, indicated international price fixing of tin might be necessary to stabilize the product, which has doubled in value since the war began.

The value of tin was indicated by some of the members of the conference by reference to its virtually unsubstitutable use in solder, bronze, babbitt metal for bearings, type metals, tin plate enamel, porcelain, rubber, silk making, foils, die casting and machinery alloys.

EARLY COMMENCEMENT AT R. I. STATE COLLEGE

Kingston, R. I., April 16.—Rhode Island State College has set its commencement exercises ahead from late June to April 28 in order to prepare for the 340 men from the National Army who are to receive industrial training there. Faculty members will be allowed only a short vacation this Summer, so that they may train these men in carpentry, electrical and machinist trades.

1,000 STEEL WORKERS MAKE STRIKE THREAT

Washington, April 16.—An enforcement of a ten and one-half-hour day with no prospect of overtime, has caused 1,000 non-union workers at the Allentown plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to threaten to strike, the Labor Department announced. As a result Conciliator Clinton Reeves is on his way to the Pennsylvania city to bring about an adjustment, if possible. The men want overtime for all work in excess of eight hours.

How to Cut Shoe Expense

Shoes are judged largely by the way they wear.

And shoe wear, analyzed, means sole wear. What you have to pay for shoes, by the year, depends almost altogether on how long your soles last.

So when you buy shoes this Spring—for yourself or for others in your family—it will pay to give separate and thoughtful attention to the soles.

It will pay to learn the merits of Neōlin Soles—for these soles, costing no more than others, wear longer and so make shoes cost less.

If you have not learned the economy of these soles do so now. Get them on all the shoes you buy for members of your family this Spring. And specify Neōlin Soles when you send worn shoes to the repairman for re-soling.

You will find that you get not only longer wear—money-saving wear—but also a pleasant and satisfactory kind of wear that you have not known before. For these soles were created by scientists to have all the qualities that soles should have—long wear, comfortable flexibility, waterproofness and resistance to slipping.

But when you ask for Neōlin Soles look underneath for the Neōlin trade mark. Dealers and repairmen in the lists below will point out this mark to you as identifying the genuine.

Mark that mark; stamp it on your memory: Neōlin—

LOAN TAKES A BIG JUMP

ent second to Massachusetts, with $12,870,000 subscribed; Rhode Island a god third with $7,597,000; Maine next with $5,451,000, and New Hampshire and Vermont bringing up the rear with $3,724,000 and $2,271,000. Many towns and cities in these last two States have substantially oversubscribed their quotas.

The city of Rutland, Vt., announces subscriptions totaling $452,700 which is more than its quota and its committees declare they will have the necessary two per cent. of population subscription by tomorrow in order to make sure of the honor flag.

The Boston Trades Committee report $12,400 additional subscriptions from 74 subscribers in the cigar and tobacco trade.

The latest bank to join the other concerns in Boston in receiving subscriptions on the dollar a week installment plan is the Exchange Trust Company.

MORE QUOTAS FULL.

The latest town to discover that it was in the honor class is Norwell, which is $1,000 above its quota of $48,500. Other New England towns to go over the top with their quotas are:

Portland, Ct.	$17,200
Franconia, N. H.	15,150
Wallingford, Vt.	13,000
Danby, Vt.	12,500
Milan, N. H.	12,400
Mt. Tabor, Vt.	12,800
East Berlin, Ct.	5,000

Pheeney, Hero of Vimy Ridge, to Sell $100,000 of Bonds

Sergeant H. E. Pheeney of the Canadian Overseas Forces, who was on the list of today's speakers for the Liberty Loan at the Victory Cottage rally on Boston Common, has offered to sell $100,000 worth of Liberty Bonds through his personal efforts. He is confident that he will carry through his drive with flying colors.

Other speakers on today's rally program at Victory Cottage included Miss Margaret Foley of the Massachusetts Equal Suffrage Association; former Mayor [illegible] of Woburn and Machinist's Mate Louis [illegible], U. S. N.

Sergeant Pheeney is one of the heroes of Vimy Ridge, Messines Ridge, Lens and other battlegrounds in northern France, right where the war crisis is now on in fullest ferocity.

He was one of the gallant Canadians who went "over the top" at Vimy Ridge, whose possession now is one of the great battle assets of the Allies.

He has been delivering war talks for the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission throughout New England. He gives thrilling accounts of his experiences in the trenches and in field engagements. At each one of his lectures he has set aside a few minutes to "do his bit" for the Liberty Loan, if a campaign was on. Now he promises to raise $100,000 in subscriptions all by himself.

MAKES FIRST TRIP OVER ANDRES IN AEROPLANE

Buenos Ayres, April 16.—The first airplane trip over the Andes has been accomplished by Lieutenant Candelaria of the Argentine army, who flew from Zapala, Argentina, to [illegible], Chile, a distance of about 107 miles. When crossing the mountains Lieutenant Candelaria attained an altitude of 11,500 feet. The Andes were crossed near this point in June, 1916, by a Chilean officer and pilot in a balloon.

Galesburg Beauty Proud of "Liberty Stockings"

New York, April 16.—"Patriotic stockings" is the newest thing in hosiery. A patriotic lady from a western town—Galesburg, Ill.—created a stir in the palm room of the Biltmore Hotel today when she appeared wearing red, white and blue silken hose. Many "oh's" were heard from the feminine set, while the masculine admirers craned their necks.

"Please," she said confidentially, "don't say who I am, but mention the fact that I wear my country's colors for stockings if you like. And why not? Isn't it as patriotic to wear pretty stockings like this," and she raised her skirt a very little bit farther "as to wear a flag in the buttonhole of your coat lapel? I have two brothers in the navy and one in the army, and both of our grandfathers fought in the Civil War. I'd hate to think any one could call our family slackers."

$1,000 GIFT BY ELKS TO DR. SANTOSUOSSO

Dr. [illegible] now adorned by a $1,000 walnut dining room [illegible] a complimentary banquet [illegible] him as retiring Past Exalted Ruler of Boston Lodge of Elks at the Elks Home on Somerset street. Those presiding officer and toastmaster were John W. Connelly, Daniel J. Kiley [illegible] tions. Among the invited guests and speakers were former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor James M. Curley, Senator Channing H. Cox, District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, Daniel V. McIsaac, Judge Thomas H. Dowd, Judge Michael J. Murray, Judge Edward B. O'Brien, of Lynn, Nathan A. Tufts, William J. Corcoran and former Congressman William S. McNary. Lieutenant Vittorio [illegible] dent delivered a stirring address on the Liberty Loan.

KAISER WANTS TO SEIZE GERARD'S BRIC-A-BRAC

New York, April 16.—James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, is likely to lose valuable paintings, silver, china, bric-a-brac and other articles left in storage in a Berlin warehouse when he departed from Germany.

Mr. Gerard stated that the Spanish Ambassador who represented the United States in Berlin had protested a demand made by German authorities for the Gerard property. The seizure of an Ambassador's personal property is contrary to civilized usage.

Swift & Company, although the largest packer, handles not to exceed one-eighth of the total meat production of the United States.

The five large packers do not handle to exceed one-third of the total meat production of the United States.

FIRST BOND OF THIRD LOAN FOR MOVIE FAVORITE

This is Helen Paine of Liberty Loan headquarters, holding the first and only bond of the third loan in New England. It is the property of N. Penrose Hallowell of the Liberty Loan Committee, but Mr. Hallowell has given Mary Pickford an option on it, when the favorite movie star speaks at the loan rally at Tremont Temple tomorrow night. Plenty of other bonds are expected in Boston and New England within a few days.

There is only one Third Liberty Loan bond in New England. It is owned by N. Penrose Hallowell, chairman of the New England Liberty Loan committee, and he paid $50 for it.

Because of his position as head of the New England committee the bond was sent to Mr. Hallowell. It is numbered 42,002 and does not differ in size or appearance from the bonds of the first and second loan.

"I expect a large number of bonds will arrive in Boston next week," said Mr. Hallowell today to an AMERICAN reporter. "The authorities at Washington are waiting to get a substantial number before distributing them. Officials of the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston desire to have enough on hand so that all banks in this district can be properly supplied at the same time."

The Treasury Department is printing 600,000 bonds a day of various denominations.

When Mary Pickford comes to Boston tomorrow Mr. Hallowell will permit her to buy this bond if she wishes. Although he values No. 42,002 because of its associations he will give way to the country's most popular movie star.

MARY PICKFORD COMING TO AID LOAN

Famous Movie Star to Speak Three Times in Boston Tomorrow, Once on Common

Mary Pickford, the motion picture star, will be in Boston all day tomorrow in aid of the Third Liberty Loan. Miss Pickford comes to Boston under the auspices of the Treasury Department to whom she has volunteered her services. She will arrive at the South station at 6:35 a. m. tomorrow.

During her Boston sojourn Miss Pickford will stop at the Touraine. She will appear only three times during the day, and at the following times and places:

12 m.—At the Liberty Theatre on Boston Common.

6:15 p. m.—At a mass meeting at Mechanics Building, Huntington avenue.

8 p. m.—At a Liberty Bond Rally at Tremont Temple.

Tickets for the rally at Tremont Temple tomorrow night will be given out to all who apply at Liberty Barracks, on the Common, beginning today. Admission to Tremont Temple will be by ticket only and the supply will be distributed to all comers so long as they last.

The mass meeting at Mechanics Hall is to give Boston's shop girls an opportunity to see and hear Mary. More than 12,000 of them are expected to attend this meeting, which is held under the auspices of the Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

It is expected that fair Mary will be mobbed. Preparations are being made for extra policemen to handle the big crowd that is expected to attend the rally. The meeting is to start at 6:15, and will be finished shortly after 8 o'clock. The doors will be opened at 5:45 for ticket holders, the general public will be admitted after 6:15.

F. Alexander Chandler, president of the Retail Trade Board, will preside, and the other speakers will be Charles F. Weed, former president of the Chamber of Commerce; Lieutenant O. B. Jones and Judge Michael J. Murray.

Sidelights on Boston Liberty Loan Campaign

It is hoped that actual bonds of the third loan might be offered for sale on Wednesday evening, but it will be, aparently, five or six days before they are received in any quantity. There is only one bond today in Boston and that is in the hands of Chairman Hallowell of the New England Loan Committee.

Thus far only one-fourth of the towns in Massachusetts where the the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee has a local chairman have reported results of the first week of the drive. Practically 4,000 subscriptions have been taken by the women, totalling $1,522,260.

* * *

Plans are making for the entertainment of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, by the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee during her visit to Boston for the great parade Friday. Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, and Mrs. Malcolm Lang have the matter in charge, and in addition to the parade will attend the mass meeting in Symphony Hall in the evening.

* * *

Rutland, Vt., is to have its big day April 17, and the [illegible] Liberty Loan Committee, Mrs. Charles A. Simpson, county chairman, is making extensive plans for its part in the parade which will be the big feature of the day. A service division for the wives and mothers of soldiers and sailors, the Red Cross and other war relief organizations, school children, etc., will have a place in the line, and attractive decorations at the women's headquarters will add to the general interest in securing subscriptions.

* * *

In Weston the soliciting is being done by seven teams, two with women captains and with several women in each team. By Friday night the town had more than doubled its quota, the women securing a goodly share of the 125 subscriptions representing approximately $500,000 in bonds.

Mrs. Edmund M. Parker, chairman of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, Speakers' Bureau, last week supplied thirty-two speakers, who covered nineteen towns, Boston taking at least a third of the number. Already seventeen engagements have been booked for this week, chiefly in the southern part of the State.

* * *

At the Fore River Works the departments are making a strenuous effort to attain the honor "100 per cent. subscribed." In one department yesterday morning every individual except one had subscribed to the third loan. There seemed to be no method of obtaining his subscription. His felow workmen, after using all the persuasion they possessed, picked up the objector bodily, carried him to the edge of the yard and threw him over the picket fence, with the words "Don't come back without a button."

WOMEN RAISE MILLIONS FOR LOAN

BI ELIZABETH ELLAM.

The Massachusetts committee of the third Liberty Loan has captured the first trench! Reports of the first week, coming slowly into the office at headquarters, show that the women who are working to put across the third big loan are gallant soldiers and that they are achieving real results.

With only a fourth of the towns and cities of the State heard from, Massachusetts women have sold bonds totalling $1,522,260. They have secured 4,000 subscribers, and there are at least 182 towns and cities that are yet to report.

Is it any wonder that there was jubilation at the headquarters when reports began to come in? Any wonder, either, that the men who hesitated at allowing the women to do their bit and inviting them to share the work for the second Liberty Loan are thoroughly and emphatically won over to their effectiveness in the present situation?

Mrs. F. L. Higginson, chairman for New England, looks for very large results, when all the New England States are heard from. As it is today, these are the figures: Massachusetts, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, chairman, $1,522,260; Maine, Mrs. John F. Hill of Augusta, chairman, $278,850; Vermont, Mrs. Edward Curtis Smith of St. Albans, chairman, $73,150.

New Hampshire, Connecticut and Rhode Island are as yet unknown quantities, save that reports state that the women are doing good work with the loan.

Connecticut women have previously won distinction, and in the two previous loans did heroic service. They proved that, though "woman's place is in the home," she can do most efficient work in the business world once she makes up her mind to it. Rhode Island, the little sister State, is looked for to make returns that are all out of proportion to her size.

Boston is the banner Massachusetts city, as far as activities are concerned, from present reports. Sales of bonds in the booths in department stores, in hotel lobbies and such places totalled almost a half-million dollars in one week. To be accurate, they were $455,100. Mrs. Malcolm Lang is chairman of the Boston committee.

Of course, a half million does not really compare with the hundreds of millions that the men's committees are rolling up, but they are the pennies that are being gathered, and that might otherwise roll away into cracks, unheeded. Nobody pays the mortgage from the pennies in the baby's bank, but those same pennies have been known to pay the rent of the house for a month, in an emergency.

Aid for Junior Red Cross

There will be an entertainment in aid of the Junior Red Cross in the Dexter School, Dedham, Thursday afternoon, April 25, and Friday evening, April 26.

CLUBBED BY BANDIT WHO MAKES ESCAPE

Providence, R. I., April 16. — A highwayman clubbed and tried to shoot Willis W. White, a grocer of No. 587 Hartford avenue, and his daughter Edith, aged fourteen, when his attempts at a holdup was resisted. Two men attracted by the girl's screams attempted to capture the assailant, but were held back by a revolver in the hands of the fleeing bandit.

Instead of throwing up his hands as ordered, Mr. White seized the revolver when accosted on Ophelia street. A blow on the head with a club stunned him. The assailant turned to his daughter whose screams were arousing the neighborhood and struck her on the head.

NEW YORK TEUTONS ARE 'SCALPING' LIBERTY BONDS

New York, April 16.—Liberty Bond scalpers are receiving much attention as a result of the investigation into stock frauds. It was found that many bonds have been bought at a 10 per cent reduction. Assistant District Attorney Brogan said yesterday that no organized propaganda was discovered to drive Liberty Bonds down, but every scalper investigated was either a German or a Hungarian.

SENATOR WEEKS BUSY THOUGH QUIET

Campaigning for Re-election—McCall's Friends Are Urging Action

Renewed evidence that United States Senator John W. Weeks is conducting a vigorous and active, though quiet, campaign for re-election came to the surface today, closely following the scheme of some of his political cohorts to secure an indorsement for him from the Dorchester Republican Club.

Weeks is flooding the State with "my dear friend" letters. They come from Washington, on United States Senate paper, under date of April 12. The letters contain a formal announcement of his candidacy for re-election—the first formal announcement, by the way—and an urgent appeal for them to enroll themselves in the Weeks card-index club.

The "dear friend" letters are as follows:

SEEKS APPROVAL.

"I am writing to express the hope that my record in the United States Senate has met with your approval, and that I may rely upon your support in the Republican primaries in September for re-nomination.

"My duties, particularly those as a member of the Committee on Military Affairs, make it impossible for me to make more than an occasional visit to Massachusetts and consequently I am writing to a number of my friends in anticipation of the Fall primaries and election.

"If my action in the Senate has met with your approval and you believe that it entitles me to a renomination, I shall be very glad to have you write me, so that I may include your name in the list of those whom I know to be favorable to my renomination and that you are among those who will be willing to assist in your locality to bring about that result. Very truly yours,

"JOHN W. WEEKS."

SEEKS INVITATION TO SPEAK.

Mr. Weeks' next move will be an extensive speaking campaign, which has been already inaugurated in a mild and clever way. His political workers are securing "invitations" for him to speak before civic associations, social clubs and secret fraternities. "Washington in war time," or some other equally well camouflaged title is usually the subject of "the discourse." His friends admit that it is part of their campaign "to get John before the people."

It is reported that a Hebrew organization in Boston recently declined to send Mr. Weeks an "invitation."

The development of the Weeks campaign has started an interesting story running 'round town. It is told by a man prominent in politics, who vouches for the accuracy of it. He said:

"When the Senator was in town last, he had quarters at the Hotel Touraine, where he talked over his fences with his workers. One of his visitors was a man who is known best in the business world, but who plays politics quietly and effectively. When Weeks asked him to state his opinion of the situation he replied, 'John, Sam McCall can lick you in the Republican primaries by 30,000 votes.'

GOVERNOR'S FRIENDS DISTURBED

Senator Weeks is reported to have said, "Well, I don't know whether this job is worth making the fight for, after all."

Some of Governor McCall's friends are disturbed by the activities of Senator Weeks and his political lieutenants. "All this talk about Weeks devoting his time solely to war work at Washington is bunkum. He is devoting most of his attention to his personal campaign for re-election," one of the Governor's friends said today.

If Governor McCall decides to enter the Senatorial contest he will be a passive rather than active campaigner. He will give himself up to the work of his office, and leave the result to be determined by the voters next October without any interference by him in the form of a personal or active campaign.

He has resisted the efforts of his friends who would have him announce his candidacy and undertake a long campaign. "This is not the time to consider one's personal ambitions," Governor McCall is reported to have advised a prominent friend who recently urged him to announce his candidacy.

Governor McCall is said to take the attitude that while the country is at war, candidates for office should not engage in any form of campaigning; their formal announcement should be withheld until near election day. In other words, that the more acceptable candidate should be drafted by the people.

"In view of what happened in the Legislature seven years ago an announcement of my candidacy, at the proper time, would not be presumptuous," Governor McCall is said to have written in a letter to one admirer.

Governor McCall and his friends have always borne the belief that the election was stolen from him at that time by the Weeks forces.

Brookline Equal Suffrage Women to Give Musicale and Tea for War Relief

© PHOTOGRAPH BY LOUIS FABIAN BACHRACH

Mrs. Henri Marquisan, formerly Miss Frances Moore, daughter of the late Clarence Moore, whose marriage to Lieut. Marquisan of the French Flying Corps took place on Saturday, April 6.

By KATHERINE ALDEN.

The musicale and tea to be given by the Brookline Equal Suffrage Association at Whitney Hall, Coolidge Corner, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock will be entirely for the benefit of War Relief. The committee is: Miss L. R. Stanwood, chairman, Mrs. Harold Hassell, Mrs. Stanwood G. Wellington, Mrs. Charles McDermott and Mrs. William Powell. A musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Winifred Powell, who will sing in duets with Miss Phyllis Robbins, both also giving groups of solos. Miss Robbins and Mrs. Powell have sung together several times this Winter at Red Cross benefits with great success. The tea will be in charge of Mrs. Stanwood Wellington, and those who will pour are Mrs. Reginald Heath, Mrs. Frank T. Parsons, Mrs. Charles Voorhis, Mrs. Hicks Moses and Mrs. Albert Adams, with a group of the young Brookline girls.

Miss Elizabeth Caswell, the attractive daughter of Mrs. John Caswell of Commonwealth avenue and Pride's Crossing, will sell Liberty Bonds at the Copley-Plaza on Wednesday evening from 4:30 to 8:30. During the first week of the drive Miss Caswell attended the various rallies on the Common, and when Alexandra Carlisle, now starring in the "Country Cousin," spoke, the young girl bought a $500 bond.

An exhibition of Serbian war pictures at the Copley Gallery, No. 103 Newbury street, in aid of the Serbian Relief Fund, has been arranged by Miss Dorothy Forbes and Miss Alice Carey Williams, with the co-operation of Franz Zerrahn of the Serbian Distress Fund. Mrs. Gordon Allen, Mrs. John Heard, Jr., Miss Katherine Durr, Ellen Dalton, Susan Dabney, Ruth Gordon and Mrs. Harold Williams will have charge of the exhibition on various days, and M. Samson Tchernoff of the Serbian army, by whom the pictures were taken, will also be in attendance.

Lieutenant Henri Marquisan and Mrs. Marquisan, formerly Frances Moore, who were married in Washington on April 6, returned to Washington yesterday, after spending their honeymoon in New York, where they were at the Ritz-Carleton.

* * *

The engagement is announced of Miss Ruth Fessenden Howe, daughter of Mrs. Frederick C. Howe of Cambridge, to Captain Joseph Rich Proctor, Infantry, U. S. R. Captain Proctor has been connected with a Boston banking firm, and obtained his commission at the second Plattsburg camp. He is now stationed with the Fourth Division at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C. Miss Howe is a graduate of the class of 1916, Simmons College.

DEADLOCK OVER NEW SCHOOL HEAD UNBROKEN

Miss Frances G. Curtis deserted the candidate for whom she had previously voted, Frank V. Thompson, and joined forces with Michael H. Sullivan in attempting to bring about the election of Augustine L. Rafter, as superintendent of schools, at the School Committee meeting.

Friends of Mr. Rafter are very much enthused over the vote, and predict his ultimate election. Thompson is now the minority candidate, with but a single supporter, Henry Abrahams, who is at the City Hospital.

FIND NEW HAVEN MAN LONG SOUGHT BY MOTHER

After a six weeks' search Officer Clement C. Van Lanlingham of City Hall avenue station has located John H. Ware, thirty years old, a traveling salesman of New Haven. On March 1 Ware's mother wrote to the police that her son, who was accustomed to write to her regularly, had not been heard from since last September. The son was found at No. 22 Elmwood avenue, Newton. He said that his reason for not writing to his mother was due to family difficulties.

WEATHER HELPS DEVENS FUND DRIVE

Baseball Feeling in Air Prompts Subscriptions for Stand and Diamond

UP TO PEOPLE TO SUBSCRIBE.

The government has given the land, and it is up to the people to subscribe the few thousand dollars necessary to build the stand.

This idea originated with Major General Harry Hodges, commanding the 76th division, and he is so much an enthusiast over the idea that he is giving every possible help to the movement. He has assigned Lieutenant Robert C. Deming as official custodian of the fund, to take the money, and has done other things to make the plan go along smoothly.

All the public is asked to do is to subscribe a few thousand dollars. The plan has already taken hold of the imaginations of the public to the extent that many contributions have come in with letters commenting favorably on the idea.

"Don't feel that you have to give a large amount. If you can afford $5 or more or less, all right. Send it in. If you can't go more than a dollar, fine!

FIFTY CENTS WELCOME.

Fifty cents is welcome and the sponsors of the fund are not frowning on quarters when it is all people can afford.

It is entirely up to the individual as to the amount.

But it is a chance for people to pay off, in a way that will do a lot of good, some of those debts which they owe the world.

Has your business been particularly good? All right, take some of the money and subscribe to this fund. You owe something for that good business, and as you can't pay it to the Goddess Fortune, put it into this fund to make a soldier happy.

Think that these men, now up at Ayer, will soon, perhaps, but certainly sometime, go to France to keep the world safe for you and then dope it out how much you owe to them. Then dig down and subscribe.

These men can play ball without a grandstand, of course. Eighteen of them! And a few people standing around can see the game. But the idea of this fund is to have a big stand where hundreds of them can see it in comfort. The stand is to have locker rooms and shower baths, too, and a whole lot of other equipment which they haven't got up there now.

It is one of the most worthy projects that has ever been presented to New England. Go to it and subscribe!

HOW TO SEND MONEY.

A word as to the right way to make your contribution to this fund.

DO NOT MAKE ANY CHECKS FOR THE FUND PAYABLE TO THE BOSTON AMERICAN. MAKE ALL CHECKS PAYABLE TO ROBERT C. DEMING, TREASURER, WHO IS IN CHARGE OF THE FUND. THE AMERICAN IS ACTING SIMPLY AS A TRANSFER AGENT.

Contributions to the Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund will be received by this paper for transfer to Lieutenant Deming, or, if contributors prefer, they may send their contributions direct to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming, Treasurer Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund, at Camp Devens.

Approval of the plan is heard on every side and messages praising the work being done by the AMERICAN are coming in daily. These are samples:

GEORGE CARMICHAEL of West Roxbury:

The Boston AMERICAN is to be complimented upon the step they have taken to make additional comfort and pleasure for the boys at Camp Devens. Keep up the good work.

JOSEPH J. MURDOCK of Brookline:

The right step. The Boston AMERICAN always takes the lead and this step is bound to make the soldiers at the Massachusetts camp happy. Athletics is needed.

Promoter Tuohey Wires Best Wishes for Fund to Lieutenant Deming

George V. Tuohey has sent the following telegram to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming, treasurer of the base ball fund at Camp Devens:

"Happy to inform you that the Baseball Fund for the boys at Camp Devens was fattened fifty dollars by the wrestling fans at the Grand Opera House last night and to this we are adding fifteen dollars from the surplus pennies above war tax making total of sixty-five dollars. Check is in mail and wish the Fund the greatest of good luck."

RATHER QUIT OFFICE THAN KILL ONE CAT

Millbury, April 16.—The proposed registration and licensing of cats may drive Dog Officer Simeon King to resign. He says: "I would have no hesitancy in killing a delinquent man's dog, but no price could tempt me to kill a woman's cat. I hope the law is passed, but I want to see the other fellow do the dirty work."

SARAH SODA TO BE BRIDE OF POTASH

Worcester, April 16.—Among the marriage intentions just filed at the office of City Clerk W. Henry Towne is the following:

Max Potash, 183 Harding street, 34, junk business, and Sarah (Goldstein) Soda, 183 Harding street, 45.

Juvenile "Booster" Aged 5 Swells Army Baseball Fund

Is Francis Chapman a patriot? He proves it not only by waving Old Glory, but by contributing his bit to the AMERICAN'S Camp Devens Baseball Fund. Francis lives at No. 9 Bancroft street, Roxbury.

Here's a juvenile booster for the AMERICAN'S Camp Devens Baseball Fund. He's only five and mother had to write the letter, but Francis sent his bit along with it. A few score persons with Francis' generosity and much more money than he can give would send the fund flying over the top. Read his letter, which follows:

Dear Fellows—Enclosed please find 50 cents. As I am going to be a baseball player I want to help the boys.

Mother is writing this for me. I am only five years old and can't write very well.

FRANCIS CHAPMAN.
No. 9 Bancroft street, Roxbury.

FALLS INTO "L" PIT IN FRONT OF TRAIN

John O'Leary, twenty-eight, single, of No. 75 Clement avenue, West Roxbury, fell into the train pit at the Dudley street station, Roxbury, while the train was entering the station, but the motorman succeeded in stopping it before the wheels came in contact with O'Leary.

He was rescued from the pit and sent to the City Hospital. The doctors were unable to find any injury other than a long scratch on his back.

CAUGHT IN BARB FENCE, BURNED TO DEATH

Tragic End of Aged Cemetery Chief at Bridgewater Trapped by Brush Fire

Bridgewater, April 16. — John J. Glen, seventy-three, superintendent of the North Prospect Cemetery, was burned to death when he became entangled in a barbed wire fence while attempting to extinguish a brush fire which got away from him.

The man's hands and face were horribly burned, his clothing was burned from his body, and his hands were also lacerated by the struggles he made to free himself from the wire.

Mr. Glenn, who had been superintendent of the cemetery for many years, started a fire to burn up rubbish which he had collected on the grounds. The blaze got away from him and spread to an adjoining field. He summoned Spencer Holland, a passer-by, to help him, but after one look at the flames Holland ran a considerable distance to a fire alarm box and called the department.

In the meantime Mr. Glen attempted to extinguish the fire alone. While running across the head of the field he was caught in the barbed wire fence. Despite his furious efforts, the flames swept down before he could release himself.

Chief Marshal Michael Stewart of the police department and Firemen Charles Marshall and Ward Washburn arrived a few minutes later, and after putting out the blaze discovered that the old man was breathing. He was rushed to the Town Hall, but died on the way. He leaves two daughters, Mary and Sarah, and a son, John, Jr., who is a member of the fire department.

BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Gate of Heaven Branch of the L. C. B. A., the following officers were elected: Mrs. Mary A. Reddington, president, ninth term; Ellen Powers, and Sarah Lynch, vice-presidents; Edna Dooley, recorder; Sadie Dooley, financial secretary; Haronah Vearney, treasurer; Genevieve Fain, marshal; Margaret Pierce, guard; Mary Devine, Eleanor Moore, Margaret O'Connor, Katherine Riley and Susan Sullivan trustees.

The organization is planning to give a series of whist parties, the proceeds of which will be used for the benefit of the South Boston boys now in the trenches.

$6,500 IN BONDS TAKEN BY CHICOPEE JEWS

Each of the thirty-nine Jewish families of Chicopee Falls has at least one Liberty Bond, according to the lists of the Jewish Liberty Loan Committee. This brings the total subscription there up to $6,500, which is divided among thirty-nine persons.

The slogan of the Jewish Committee, "Liberty Bonds in Every Jewish Home" is being rapidly realized under the thorough house-to-house canvass now being made.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR CORPORAL AT DEVENS

Spaulding, Former German Teacher at Worcester Tech, Charged With Disloyalty

Camp Devens, Ayer, April 16.—The authorities here are investigating the history of Acting Corporal John Austin Spaulding, former professor of German at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, who is under arrest in the depot brigade guardhouse charged with disloyal utterances.

Spaulding's friends have rallied to his support and it has been stated from many sources that the charges against him are due more to carelessness in his conversation rather than any intentional harm to the interests of the United States. Spaulding has said nothing for publication and military officials here who know the facts have refused to discuss the case until after the scheduled court martial.

Although his alleged disloyal utterances are said to have something to do with the case of Dr. Karl Muck, it has been denied that he was an intimate friend of the director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, now interned at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Spaulding's former admiration for the people of Germany, where he once studied, is said to have led him into his present predicament.

Preparations for his trial are now under way, and the case has created more interest among the officers and enlisted personnel of the cantonment than any other that has come to the attention of the auhorities here.

FIVE LAWRENCE MEN WOUNDED IN BATTLE

Lawrence, April 16.—Company, L of this city, formerly a part of the 8th Massachusetts, was among the fighting organizations hard hit in the recent encounters with the Huns. Five members of the 104th Infantry are named as receiving injuries in the fray. They are Corporal Joseph A. Lynch, Private George E. Connors, Sergeant William Quinn, Private William P. Rennie and Private James B. G. Valentine.

These are the first local men to be wounded, but two Lawrence soldiers in Company L have already been killed in action, Privates Arthur J. Vaudreuil and W. J. Guthrie.

DECLARES BROKEN RAIL WRECKED TROOP TRAIN

Central Islip, N. Y., April 16.—Rumors are in circulation that the Long Island railroad wreck yesterday in which three soldiers were killed and thirty-seven hurt, may have been due to the work of German enemies and that spikes had been drawn from railroad ties. A representative of the Long Island railroad says their investigation indicated a broken rail was to blame and that if the Federal authorities were looking into the wreck on any other theory he was not aware of it.

11 PAY FINES OF $5 IN GAMBLING RAID

Eleven men paid fines of $5 each today in the Municipal Court for being present where gaming was going on on Sunday. Six of the men, members of a firemen's union, were taken in a raid by Sergeant McDonald in a Washington street hall, four were gathered in by Sergeant Riordan on West Brookline street and one man was arrested in the West End.

MALDEN PARADE AT END OF LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

The Liberty Loan parade, which was to have opened the canvass in Malden Saturday and which had to be postponed because of the storm, will be held at the conclusion of the campaign when the honor flag which Malden confidently expects to receive, is unfurled.

How This Fine Family of Seven Children Keeps Healthy

Mother Depends on Father John's Medicine —For Colds, Coughs and Body Building

No Alcohol or Dangerous Drugs

"For the last four years whenever any of our seven children have had colds, we gave them Father John's Medicine," writes Klaus Zandstra of Whitinsville, Mass. "We have used it for all of the children and they have been greatly benefited by taking Father John's Medicine for colds and body-building." Crowded with nourishment and warmth-giving, strength-building elements, Father John's Medicine is also guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs, and is, therefore, a safe reliable family medicine.

OH! THAT AWFUL BACKACHE IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

An unhealthy body, and the unhappiness and misery which follow, may be prevented by ordinary judgment and care. Keep your stomach and kidneys in shape and you will have good health. The kidneys' work is to throw off the poisonous matters which enter the body. If they perform this work regularly and automatically the other organs will take care of themselves.

Diseased conditions of the bladder or kidneys are indicated by nervousness, sleeplessness, that tired, wornout feeling, dizziness, nausea, backache, lumbago, rheumatism, pain in the lower abdomen, many so-called "female troubles," severe pain and discomfort when urinating, bloody, cloudy and stringy urine, too frequent or suppressed passages. All these are nature's signal to warn you of diseased kidneys or bladder, which may lead to fatal Bright's disease.

Don't wait until the danger is upon you. Go to your druggist at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are made of the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil, the kind your great-grandfather used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Money refunded if they do not help you. But remember to ask for the imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.—Advertisement.

NEW RULES FOR JITNEYS AT DEVENS

Military Authorities Adopt System for Control In and Out of Camp

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, April 16.—The official military lid has been clamped down on the owners and drivers of jitneys operating within the cantonment or carrying soldiers outside of the cantonment. New regulations governing the prices they may charge and the number of passengers they may carry at one time have been issued to go into effect on Thursday.

The drivers of these cars are now responsible to officials at division headquarters. Each chauffeur driving a jitney within the cantonment must have a military license and each car must have a distinctive camp number with the letters "C. D." and the license number in white on a blue field.

The album of the third officers' training school is published and is called "The Pick." The book is brim full of humorous incidents connected with the life and the work of the candidates in the school, and considering the short time in which they had to get it out, is a credit to the men who are responsible for it.

Major William Libbey of the ordnance department at Washington, who has been here inspecting the United States army rifles, is scheduled to return to Washington today. Major Libbey is one of the best rifle and pistol shots in the world. He is a professor of physical geology at Princeton University, four times president of the National Rifle Association, and a member of the American rifle team which shattered several world records at the Olympic games in 1912.

Second Lieutenant Hennig Larsen of A company, 303rd Infantry, has been relieved of duty here and is to be sent to Copenhagen as an attache at the American Embassy. Larsen, who comes from Iowa City, Ia., is a former professor at the Iowa State University, and a noted linguist. He was commissioned at Fort Snelling, Minn., and was transferred here from the 132d infantry at Camp Logan, Tex.

CARTRIDGE EXPLOSION INJURES THREE BOYS

Three Brighton boys were injured when they touched a match to the paper in which a gun cartridge was wrapped.

John H. Leonard, thirteen, of No. 40 Oak Square avenue, is at St. Elizabeth's Hospital with the first joint of his left thumb and the tips of his four left fingers shot away. His face is badly burned and lacerated and his right hand injured. He had held the cartridge while the experimental flames were enveloping it.

George McLaughlin, ten, of No. 36 Oak Square avenue, and John Wilson, twelve, No. 52 Oak Square avenue, are at home with bandages over cuts and burns about their faces and hands. Another boy observer of the experiment escaped injury.

MELROSE WOMEN TO TURN OUT 2,000,000 DRESSINGS

Melrose women plan to turn out two million surgical dressings instead of the 200,000 which they have been making. The upper part of the Public Library has been turned over to the work and afternoon and evening work will be carried on daily excepting Sunday. Following an appeal made Sunday, the number of workers increased 25 per cent. and will be doubled by the end of the week.

FRANCIS X. PHELAN of Roxbury, nephew of banker James J. Phelan, now a lieutenant in the 101st Regiment in France.

Francis X. Phelan of Roxbury, nephew of James J. Phelan, the Boston banker, has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant in the 101st Overseas Regiment and had the distinction of leading a squad of men "over the top." He received his baptism of fire and escaped injury.

Lieutenant Phelan is the son of the late Patrick M. Phelan, who was connected with the firm of Phelan & Steptoe. He was formerly connected with the First Corps Cadets. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted as a private in the old "Fighting Ninth" Regiment at Camp McGinnis, Framingham, and when that command became the 101st Regiment went to France with it last September.

He was made color sergeant of the regiment and showed so much executive ability and was so tactful in handling men that Colonel Edward L. Logan recommended him for promotion. He was one of the first men to volunteer when Colonel Logan asked for men to "go over the top" on a raiding party. He is reported to have captured several German prisoners with the aid of the men under him.

In a letter to his uncle, he reports that the men of the 101st are in the best of health, that many of them have been awarded the French cross of war.

Camp Notes

New orders have been issued to the commanding officers of all the units in the cantonment to see that all of their company bills are paid and their accounts straightened out before their commands leave the cantonment. Some of the organizations which have left here for other cantonments or overseas service left a string of unpaid bills behind that caused considerable trouble.

* * *

Chief John F. McAree of the camp fire department, has sent out a call for all the spare brooms in the cantonment. These are to form an important part of the fire department's equipment hereafter, owing to the numerous brush fires that have destroyed hundreds of acres of woodland on the outskirts of the cantonment. The chief is going to start a series of broom drills that will include several hundred soldiers in addition to the firemen.

* * *

Hereafter all officers or enlisted men arrested for overspeeding in automobiles by civil authorities in the vicinity of the cantonment will be tried by a military court. A determined effort is to be made to put and end to reckless driving, as a result of the death of three soldiers and the serious injury of several others.

* * *

A new range is expected to be started here for heavy artillery practice and the 301st engineers are building a special bridge over the Nashua River to accommodate the heavy Howitzers that will soon be used by the men of the 303rd Field Artillery Regiment. Two batteries of three-inch pieces are now being used by the light field artillery in their daily practice on the Hell Pond range.

ENEMY OWNED MILLS ON GOVERNMENT WORK

Passaic, N. J., April 16.—A. Mitchell Palmer, custodian of enemy alien property, has ordered all the woolen mills in this district to work their looms and spindles to full capacity on government work. A large part of the stock in these mills is owned by aliens. It was stated that all the earnings of the companies will go to the stockholders, except the dividends on the stock held by enemy aliens, which will be paid to the government.

THOMAS F. RYAN'S SON NOW IN DEFENCE SQUAD

New York, April 16.—Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, the financier, yesterday joined the force of rich men who are giving their services to the government for nothing. He was apointed a deputy police commissioner, in charge of the division of national defence, with 300 policemen under him. This force, which works without uniform, is guarding docks and piers.

BIG WAR CHEST TO BE PUT IN MALDEN SQUARE

Malden's "bird cage" traffic sign in Malden square is to be temporarily removed, to be replaced by the big War Chest purchased from Salem, in the interests of the Malden War Chest Fund, which is to follow the present Liberty Loan drive.

SHOT IN WRIST BY A STRAY BULLET

Officials Puzzled by Accident at Camp — Ball Landed in Man's Other Hand

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, April 16.—An investigation of the mysterious shooting of Private Elias Whitby of Glens Falls, N. Y., who was wounded in the wrist while on a hike with the Sixth company of the Depot Brigade along the Shirley Road, is being made today.

The bullet which struck Whitby is believed to have ricocheted from the rifle range. It passed through his wrist and dropped into the palm of his other hand.

Whitby was a paper maker before he was drafted. He came to this cantonment and was assigned to the Sixth company of the Depot Brigade. Lieutenant C. H. Martin took the company out on a practice march and while on the Shirley Road ordered them to stop for a rest.

Whitby seated himself on a fence. Some of the other men were throwing pebbles. Whitby felt something drop into his right hand and found it was a bullet. He did not know he had been wounded until he saw the blood-soaked arm of his shirt.

Lieutenant Martin discovered the bullet hole in his wrist, stopped a passing automobile and rushed him back to one of the brigade infirmaries. There the wound was dressed and Whitby was sent to the base hospital.

Eighty men from the Depot Brigade have been transferred to the 304th infantry regiment and 50 to "Boston's Own." This is the first move toward filling the 76th Division to its fighting strength.

More men are expected to be shifted into the division next week previous to the arrival of the next increment.

Several of the men already transferred were musicians who were assigned to the regimental bands.

PACIFIST RECTOR IN TROUBLE OVER FLAG

New York, April 16. — The Rev. Leroy Urban, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Long Island City, is at odds with his congregation because it is alleged he removed an American flag from the pulpit. Previous efforts to place the Stars and Stripes in the church were frustrated by the rector, who declared he was a pacifist, and did not believe in war.

Members of the vestry threaten to resign unless the rector proves his patriotism or quits.

HELD FOR ASSAULT ON SOUTH END MAN

Charged with assault with a sharp instrument with intent to kill Urban E. Allen, John E. Collins, twenty-five, of West Springfield street, was held in $1,000 for the Grand Jury by Judge Burke in the Municipal Court.

Collins, the police say, was a lodger in the same house with Urban, Saturday night, it is alleged Collins left the house, refusing to pay his room rent and give up the key to his room. The landlady remonstrated and an argument ensued in which Allen took part.

Collins is alleged to have drawn a knife and cut Allen three times in the throat and once in the back, necessitating nine stitches.

SPORTS TAKE UP SPARE TIME AT PIER

Billiards, Bowling and Machine Baseball Tournaments on the Program

By PAUL F. WHELTON.

Aboard the Receiving Ship at Boston, April 16.—The present week bids fair to be one of tournaments, three so far being scheduled to open before Friday.

In the recent drafts of men from other stations and from ships arriving at the pier were included a number of excellent billiard players, who have been pulling off some herculean shots in the short time they have been members of the receiving ship "area." The tournament is arranged to enable these men to benefit through their prowess. There will be both individual eliminations and a [illegible] team tournament.

To the winner in the individual [illegible] a cup will be given, and to the members of the leading team [illegible] will be awarded.

The bowling tournament will be a [illegible] elimination affair, the [illegible] division rolling the highest pinfall [illegible] off the palm. Candlepins will be the [illegible] unless the contestants vote otherwise. A greater number of entries than has been received to date is [illegible] by A. C. Dunning of the Y. M. C. A. branch aboard ship, in order that a full field may be on the mark when the tournament opens.

For the highest individual pinfall a cup will be awarded. The second highest man will receive a medal.

The third tournament to open this week is a battleship baseball series. Teams of three men each will try their marksmanship with the sphere against the [illegible] machine [illegible] in the gymnasium. In the battleship baseball game three men, as a rule, constitute a team. A series of seven games will be played.

RADIO SCHOOL A YEAR OLD; 3,700 STUDENTS

The United States Naval Radio School at Cambridge is today a year old. The courses started with four men, several of which two, Ensign G. A. Parsons, then electrician, radio, third-class, and chief electrician radio R. T. James, are still connected with the school. H. G. Kent, U. S. N., first-class electrician, radio, was in charge. The enrolment today is 3,700 and still rising.

In July, Lieutenant-Commander Nathaniel F. Ayer, a Boston business man, took charge of the school, which had reached the 500 mark. A few days later, the enrolment, which was entirely naval reservists, were swelled by the addition of hundreds of regulars from the Brooklyn Electrical School.

"NEBOYS" NEW NAME FOR 76TH DIVISION

Hundreds of Letters Received Suggesting a Title for Boys from Camp Devens

Hundreds of letters are pouring into the AMERICAN office with suggestions for a popular name for the soldiers of the Seventy-sixth Division now at Camp Devens. Women relatives and friends of the boys in camp are taking a keen interest in the contest, as is indicated by the large numbers of letters they are sending.

One of the best names suggested is "Neboys," the idea of Fred W. Hicks. "Meaning New England Boys," says Mr. Hicks.

Some of the names suggested follow:

"HOME RUN DIVISION"—Elizabeth Lyons, 321 Oak street, Lawrence.

"EXCELSIOR DIVISION" — Miss Ella F. Stevens, 178 Campbell avenue, Revere.

"NEW FREEDOM DIVISION" — Charles J. Burns, 155 Cliff street, Norwich, Ct.

"DOWN EASTERS" R. A. Barneman, 2 Prospect Hill road, Andover.

"BOYS OF 76 DIVISION"—Miss Theresa Conlon, twelve years old, Portsmouth, N. H.

"PILGRIM DIVISION" — Johnny Sijvia, Marlboro.

"AMERICAN EAGLE DIVISION"—Mildred E. Doris, 17 Dartmouth street Watertown.

"WOODROW WILSON DIVISION"—C. H. Luchini, 8 North street, Milford.

"TRUE BLUE DIVISION"—Sarah King, ten years old, 259 Border street East Boston.

As the Camp Devens boys are anxious to have a fitting name, one full of pep and meaning, everybody should make a suggestion. YOUR suggestion may be the best one. Send it in to the Name Editor.

REJECT MAN WHO CAN SEE IN DARK

Frank L. Catts of St. Albans, Vt., was rejected today at the marine corps recruiting station, No. 22 Tremont Row, because he could see better in the dark than in the light. When the light in the examining room was turned on by Dr. W. Hampton Angell, the surgeon, Catts exclaimed "I can't see in the light. Turn the lights off and pull down the blinds." This was done.

Dr. Angell found upon closer examination that the man could see better in the dark than in the light.

DORCHESTER ATTORNEY PROMOTED TO BE ENSIGN

Michael Cullinan of Olney street, Dorchester, has been promoted to the rank of ensign. "Mike," as he is best known to his friends, is a Boston attorney, and was in charge of the recent woman's suffrage campaigns at the State House. He is also a former member of the old "Red Devil" Democratic Club of former Ward 24, the organization that swung Dorchester into the Democratic column.

McCALL TO PRESENT FLAG TO SIGNAL MEN

Governor McCall will present a large silk flag in the presence of Massachusetts Senators in front of the State House Saturday, 11 a. m., to the 317th Field Signal Battalion of Camp Devens, under the command of Major John A. Murphy.

The battalion will leave Camp Devens on a special train on Saturday and parade to the State House, 500 strong.

In the evening at the Cambridge armory, a ball will be held for the benefit of the battalion fund. Governor McCall, Mayor Peters and others will be present.

BIG WELCOME FOR MUSICAL FARCE

Oliver Morosco's clever musical farce, "So Long, Letty," returned to the Shubert Theatre last night for another Boston run. It was given a hearty welcome. Memories of its bright and tuneful music, its pretty dances and bright lines and unusually talented cast attracted an enthusiastic and delighted audience. "Letty" can stay in Boston as long as she wishes.

Miss Charlotte Greenwood still appears as Letty and has many of the original cast to support her. One added attraction is the Du For brothers, who are wonderful dancers. May Boley, Sidney Grant and Walter Catlett are just as pleasing as when "Letty" first appeared in Boston. The chorus is capable and attractive.

The farce is divided into two acts and three scenes. Elmer Harris and Mr. Morosco wrote the book and the lyrics and music were supplied by Earl Carroll. Their combined work makes an ideal vehicle for the eccentric Miss Greenwood.

The story of the farce deals with two couples, the Robbins and the Millers, who have homes in adjoining reconstructed trolley cars on the beach at San Francisco. Mrs. Robbins prefers dress and dancing to domestic work; Mrs. Miller is the opposite. Their husbands agree the only thing to do is to get divorces and Robbins is then to marry Mrs. Miller and Miller is to wed Mrs. Robbins.

The plan is confided to the wives and they insist on a trial week of the remarrying. It all comes out as it should, the original couples finding that they do not want to change after all. The play moves swiftly, excepting where it slows up for one of the attractive musical numbers. Miss Greenwood with her swagger, eccentric speech and dancing is as funny as ever. Mr. Grant is an excellent support.

SONGBIRDS A FEATURE AT KEITH'S

Gus Edwards' songbirds are making a great spring drive at Keith's Theatre, and the biggest robin redbreast of them all is the redoubtable Gus himself, who heads an all-star company that for fun, melody and brilliance is a shining and tremendous success.

In his great Song Revue Mr. Edwards gives a show that could stand alone, but as usual Keith's offers this wealth of entertainment as only a part of its usual high-grade vaudeville bill.

Mr. Edwards' Revue introduces the young American prima donna, Olga Cook, whose appearance delights the eye and whose voice delights the ear. He also presents that youthful and sparkling comedian, Dan Healy, who is one of the snappiest of funmakers. Then there are Helen Coyne, premier danseuse, Marguerite Dana and many others, all constituting a veritable constellation.

Ten beautiful scenes are shown, with eighteen fashion girls, displaying not only their own bewildering charms but also 200 of the newest and smartest Fifth avenue gowns. The feminine beauties, the up-to-date merriment, songs and dances, combine to make this one of the biggest hits in vaudeville.

Another remarkable feature at Keith's is the after-the-performance display of French war posters, from the private collection of A. Paul Keith. This is a fine and patriotic extra, and an especially timely public service because of the Liberty Loan campaign.

Masterly music is rendered by Ralph Smalley, a Boston favorite, formerly of the Symphony Orchestra, whose 'cello stirs the depts of musical emotions. Collins and Hart spring a novelty surprise. Marsella's tropical tricksters are a hit with their bird imitations. Kate Elinore and Sam Williams chatter amusingly of topics up to the minute. Flanagan and Edwards have a clever act called "Off and On." The Browne Sisters, experts on the accordion, and Mignon, the dainty mimic, add particular flavor to a bill that is excellent in every phase. The Hearst-Pathe news films are as usual the most up-to-date pictures obtainable.

BOSTON THEATRE—Talented Irene Castle, famous dancer and screen star, is appearing this week at the Boston Theatre in "The Hillcrest Mystery," a film feature which shares the honors with a bill of top-notch vaudeville headline, the Gypsy Brigands. Mrs. Castle is particularly adapted to this type of play and the spirit with which she imbues it will without doubt make it one of the most popular dramas of the season.

The Gypsy Brigands, sons and daughters of Romany, give a graphic illustration of an evening's enjoyment such as they invariably hold following the day's work. Embs and Alton are instrumentalists and vocalists. Their efforts are most artistic and their appeal is general. Leroy, Lytton and company in "Neighbors;" Nelson and Castle in a melange of "Song and Jest" and Marie Russell complete a well-balanced bill.

Condensed Criticisms of Plays That Remain

By the DRAMATIC EDITOR.

Alexandra Carlisle at the Hollis, in "The Country Cousin," by Booth Tarkington and Julian Street, a bright comedy contrasting fast society with a wholesome girl from a country town.

Leo Ditrichstein at the Tremont, in "The King," last week of a brilliant French comedy offering the star a wonderful role.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew at the Wilbur Theatre in "Keep Her Smiling," a domestic comedy that is full of fun.

"Cheating Cheaters," Max Marcin's ingenious comedy of crooks and detectives continues to attract large audiences to the Park Square.

"The Man Who Came Back," continues its amazing magnetic influence at the Plymouth and draws big houses regularly.

Colonial Theatre—George M. Cohan's Revue of 1918 enters its third and last week. It has enjoyed a far the two preceding Cohan Revues. greater success here than either of "The Great Adventure," at the Copley, Arnold Bennett's delightful comedy, is very well played.

COMING EVENTS.

"Toot Toot," Colonel Henry Savage's musical setting of the celebrated farce "Excuse Me," with a fine cast, reaches the Colonial next week.

"Polyanna," the glad play, returns to Boston and will be seen at the Tremont next week.

"TARZAN" AT GLOBE FULL OF THRILLS

Yesterday at the Globe Theatre was given the first performance of "Tarzan of the Apes," a photoplay made from the well-known book of like title written by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Judging by the reception accorded the picture spectacle it is scheduled for a prosperous stay.

The story takes the form of a jungle melodrama which is crowded with every variety of thrill. There is something that gains the concentrated interest of the human mind in anything which treats even in the most abstract manner with the corelation of humans to simians.

The picture follows the story faithfully, its central figure being the adventures of a youth who, when a baby is stolen by a huge ape and brought up in the jungle. The boy really is the son of an English nobleman whose faithful servant has escaped from a band of Arab slavers and returns to England and endeavors to restore him to his rightful position as peer of a wealthy estate.

As the grown young man of extraordinary development [illegible] through his vying with his playmates, the apes, Elmo Lincoln made a strikingly effective Tarzan. Some of his accomplishments are truly wonderful, notably the battle with the lion. Enid Markey, as the heroine, was [illegible], and the cast included a number of other well-known screen players.

PARK THEATRE—The Park Theatre played to a capacity house at every show so far this week, the chief attraction being the story of the sensational De Saulles trial under the title of "Woman and the Law," a seven-act production. Those who sympathized with Mrs. De Saulles when she was on trial for the murder of her husband, the well-known New York society man, Jack De Saulles, more than ever favor the verdict of the jury that acquitted the woman, for the picture shows she would not allow anything to stand between herself and her child and it was only a crazed mother's love that drove her to do the fearful thing she did.

Following this production is another headliner, the famous Metro production, "With Neatness and Dispatch," a six-act photoplay, featuring the two most talked-of stars in screendom, Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne. It is a comedy drama and tells the story of a maiden aunt's efforts to keep her two young and attractive nieces out of the clutches of Cupid.

GAYETY THEATRE—Good entertainment, featured by the low comedy work of Lon Hascall, resulted from the conglomeration of songs, dances and dialogue that employs Manager Jack Singer's "Broadway Frolic's" company at the Gayety.

The burlesque arranged in the usual two acts is absolutely without plot, but the two large audiences yesterday were so busy laughing that the lack of it didn't interfere with their enjoyment of the performance.

Perhaps the best bit engaging the dozen principals in the company was a training camp burlesque, "Helped by the Enemy." There is nothing in the skit save happy nonsense, but the fun-making was on a new theme and fresh.

Besides Lon Hascall, the principals include Wilbur Dobbs, Jim Tenbrooke, Mark Thompson, Jack Nicols, Bertha Delmonte, Eileen Sheridan and Bessie Baker. The chorus is pretty, and in its work showed evidence of painstaking training.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—D. W. Griffith's latest feature production, "Hearts of the World," will be shown for the first time in Boston at the Majestic Theatre tonight before an audience including prominent State and city officials, officers of the United States Army and Navy, the principal members of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission and others especially invited to witness the premier.

"Hearts of the World" has been seen in but two cities—Los Angeles and New York, and from each has come glowing accounts of the triumph of Mr. Griffith, for many years recognized as the master producer of feature films. Boston remembers his notable work in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance," and has learned to expect the unusual from him. That "Hearts of the World" will meet these expectations is evident from the reviews it has already received elsewhere. Lillian and Dorothy Gish, Robert Harron, Master Ben Alexander, George Fawcett, Adolphe Lestina, George A. Siegmann and Robert Anderson are the principal players.

BARBARISM OF HUNS SHOWN IN FILM

Portraying, with a vividness impossible of attainment through any volume of written words, the insidiousness of the Prussian war program and the loosing of a wave of barbaric terrorism, through which it was hoped to bring the civilized world to its knees, "My Four Years in Germany," the screen version of Ambassador James W. Gerard's recent book, was shown the public of Boston for the first time in Tremont Temple yesterday. And the public responded.

Long before the scheduled time of performance there was not a seat to be had on the main floor and the majority of those in the balconies had also been taken.

Were one not yet convinced of the justification (and the just privilege) of America's entry into the war, the graphic picturization of Ambassador Gerard's experiences in the cesspool of autocratic intrigue during the four years he spent in Germany will be in the nature of a revelation.

From the initial entry of Ambassador Gerard into the halls of the Hohenzollern household when Von Tirpitz, the Prussian sea-lord, author of the ruthless submarine campaign, nudged with his elbow the ribs of his fellow Prussians and winked his eye significantly to the slur of the Kaiser on the fighting ability of America when the American diplomat, at his own request, was handed his passports, the film is a convincing story of how deep into the flesh of civilization the abscess of militaristic autocracy and Prussianism has rotted.

The brutal treatment of prisoners of war and of detained civilians was illustrated, and also the murdering of scores of defenceless prisoners, all forming a part of the German program to terrorize the world. The crucifixion of a priest after he had intervened to save the honor of a number of women and girls who fled to the shelter of his premises is but one of many instances shown in which the Prussian soldier is held up in his true light.

"Do not be afraid. I am an American," the welcome words of Ambassador Gerard to a woman prisoner working in the fields, shows the way of America and Americans to duty and to the everlasting refutation of the Prussian ruler's slur, "America will not fight."

WALDRON'S CASINO — "Sliding" Billy Watson and his own big burlesque show are at Waldron's Casino for the week.

This simple announcement would almost seem to be sufficient to all lovers of burlesque shows, for they well know of the merits of "Sliding" Billy as a first-class entertainer. When he comes with a show of his own and calls it the "Big Wonder Show of Burlesque" something very decidedly out of the ordinary is expected.

These expectations were fully realized at Waldron's yesterday. Watson is, of course, a host in himself. He is the dominating personality in "Cafe de Graft" and "A Merry Mix Up," the two travesties Watson offers this season for the entertainment of the public, and he has staged them magnificently and is surrounded by a capital company of players and a big chorus of pretty girls sumptuously arrayed. Mae Dix is one of the prettiest, cutest and liveliest soubrettes seen at Waldron's for many a day. She sang and danced herself into the affections of her audiences at the start. Katherine Page is the prima donna, of excellent voice and the essential stateliness.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The leading act at Loew's St. James Theatre was that of Hoey & Lee, the well-known comedians, whose Hebrew comicalities were enjoyably revealed in their latest vehicle, "The Nominee." Others on the bill included the rural one-act comedy, "Between Showers," a delightful little offering presented by a company especially capable; Lane & Harper, in their comedy and singing skit, "The Man and the Manicure," Les Aristocrats, a dancing novelty with exhibitions of classic and whirlwind dance numbers; and Binns & Bert in acrobatic comicalities, complete the vaudeville bill. On the screen there were shown the latest News Pictorial, a comedy, and the photoplay, "The Tiger Man," picturing William S. Hart as a desperado of the plains in the days of the early gold rush.

MODERN THEATRE—Yesterday at the Modern Theatre there were shown for the first times in Boston two contrasting photoplays. Douglas Fairbanks is pictured in "Mr. Fix-It," a photoplay departing from the general run of stories in which he has appeared in lately. He is seen as a man of buoyant and eternal good humor who wishes to spread his gospel of happiness, and to this end he takes upon his shoulders the troubles of others.

On the same bill there was shown Mae Marsh in "The Face in the Dark," a screening of one of Irvin Cobb's stories in which she is pictured as a female detective of extensive deductive powers in pursuit of evidence against a band of counterfeiters and a crew of bank burglars.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The Castle Square program this week is one of the best ever offered at that popular house. The beautiful new tea room offers ladies in the audience plenty of opportunity for rest and recreation. Yesterday the photoplay bill was headed by Pauline Frederick, the popular young star, who is making "La Tosca" as appealing a play on the screen as it has been on the regular stage during the past thirty years.

"BLUE BIRD" IS FEATURE AT ORPHEUM

Excellent as was the vaudeville bill offered at Loew's Orpheum Theatre yesterday the photoplay shown was the real dominant attraction. This was a filming of Maurice Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird."

The characters are ably personated by the players pictured, and the sympathetic treatment of the producer, Maurice Tourneur, reveals that this producer has religiously preserved and artistically treated the motives of the author.

The vaudeville bill was headed by "The Great Howard," a ventriloquist of special gifts, whose offering was delightful as well as unique in that it was a complete comedietta, "Somewhere in France Is Daddy."

The surrounding bill included the O'Neil Sisters, in songs and comedy; Barnes and Smythe, in their comedy skit, "Bundles of Nonsense;" the Randals, in "15 Minutes in Arizona;" Sullivan and Meyers, in songs and comedy; and Claude Ranf, in an aerial act.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—In response to hundreds of requests received from Boston music lovers General Manager Giulio Gatti-Casazza of the Metropolitan Opera Company takes pleasure in announcing an extra performance during the company's grand opera season at the Boston Opera House, on Friday afternoon, April 26, when he will present two of the most important novelties of the New York season—"Le Coq d'Or," by the Russian composer, Rimsky-Korsakoff, and "The Dance in Place Congo," by the eminent Boston composer, Henry F. Gilbert. The latter work as is well known is a ballet-pantomime evoking pictures of life in creole days in New Orleans.

LANCASTER THEATRE—At the Lancaster Theatre yesterday there were presented two excellent photoplays. In the William Fox production, "The Daughter of France," Virginia Pearson is pictured in a stirring story of the great war in which she is a sought for prize of some of the officers, but she frustrates their attempts, and helps her own people by obtaining valuable information which she passes to the French soldiery.

COLUMBIA THEATRE — The new policy of offering entire programs of photoplays was cordially received yesterday by the Columbia Theatre patrons, and the bill was so well chosen as to give complete enjoyment. There was shown "By Right of Purchase," picturing Norma Talmadge as a frivolous society girl, who marries a man without loving him because of his wealth and position.

There was also shown a powerful and timely photoplay, "The German Curse in Russia," that was a stirring and impressive drama. The Thursday change of bill will bring William S. Hart, in "The Tiger Man," and a new photoplay, "Pay Me."

BEACON THEATRE—Douglas Fairbanks was shown pictured in his latest photoplay, "Mr. Fix-It," for the first time in Boston at the Beacon Theatre yesterday. The role is that of a man fitted by abundance of good nature and excess of happiness to bear the burdens of others comfortably. The other photoplay was Mae Marsh in "The Face in the Dark," a story of two sets of criminals, one a band of counterfeiters and the other a coterie of bank robbers whom the girl succeeds in apprehending through her marvelous powers of deduction.

JORDAN HALL—The recital by Miss Komenarski in Jordan Hall, Wednesday evening, April 17, promises to be an event of more than ordinary musical importance. Her program is an ambitious one, one to make serious demands upon the powers of a great singer. She will be assisted by Ernest W. Harrison, pianist.

It is because our people should be informed that I have consented that this photoplay be made. There are too many thinkers, writers and speakers in the United States. From now on we need the workers, the doers and the realists who alone can win this contest for democracy and for permanent peace.

MAYS OUT TO UPSET MACKS

Crafty Carl Is Barrow's Slab Nominee Today—Ruth Hero of Inaugural Game

By NICK FLATLEY.

Carl Mays was selected by Manager Barrow to down the Athletics in the second game of the Red Sox series at Fenway Park today, while Vean Gregg was listed to try to bring the Macks back to earth

The easy victory in the opening contest gave the Barrow [illegible] good start and in today's [illegible] the former world's champions [illegible] peaters.

Babe R[illegible] was the big noise [illegible] first round. [illegible] was only [illegible] safe [illegible] got in one of [illegible] pretty go[illegible] ball [illegible] himself.

Ruth's fast ball was so fast there wasn't a bat [illegible] along the ground at Stuffy McInnis, who held forth at third [illegible] as confident as he used to be where he belongs, at first.

It might be mentioned, however, that Stuffy looked like a grand [illegible] hand player in practice, but did not seem any too sure going after balls that were whacked between himself and his cushion.

In the game he merely [illegible] to gobble up an easy foul. At [illegible] bat he lifted out three flies [illegible] general direction [illegible] right [illegible] pitched outside to him [illegible] and fanned on his last appearance.

Stuffy's great [illegible], our own onetime Larry Gardner, had a real tough day of it. He appeared at the saucer four times, and on three of them was called out on strikes.

Strunk and Tillie Walker, the exchanged center fielders, covered themselves with a bit more glory than the infielders. Amos chopped out a single for himself and made a pair of dandy catches, while Tillie made half of the Athletics' blows, and both were real baseh[illegible].

TWO NEW SOX PROSPER.

The new Red Sox Whiteman and Shean comported themselves in most satisfactory fashion [illegible] He handled a few difficult [illegible] his own particular [illegible] [illegible]

An in all it was a perfect opening day. The home team won, there was a good crowd [illegible] the Mayor chucked out the first ball after the photographers had taken his picture a dozen times.

The Royal Rooters had a big band there and presented Captain Hoblitzel and the club with a huge floral horseshoe. They tried to present it to Manager Barrow but he refused absolutely to come forth from the dugout.

The parade to the flagpole was as impressive as ever, and, incidentally, helped along the Liberty Loan drive as each athlete carried one of the loan colored targets, and Red the batboy, escorted a large loan banner.

HERZOG SIGNS WITH BRAVES AND TO JOIN STALLINGS AT ONCE

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Charles (Buck) Herzog is [illegible] a member of the Boston Braves.

President Haughton has finally signed him to a contract. The big deed was accomplished over in New York following a [illegible] confab, in which President Hempstead and Manager McGraw of the Giants as well as Haughton and Herzog also took part.

Here's the angle. McGraw figures that Barnes and Doyle are entirely too valuable to give up. So he informed Hempstead to see that Haughton signed Herzog, even if the New York club had to further sweeten the jackpot.

This was done and now it is official Herzog is a Brave. Manager Stallings was looking for the 1917 Giants' captain early today and planned having him in uniform at the opening game at the Phillies' park.

MOTOR TRUCK IS KEY TO FREIGHT CONGESTION

Merchants Now Depending on Autos, Especially for Short Hauls

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

The tremendous increase in manufacturing during the past year has shown merchants that the motor truck is the only solution of a congested freight situation which bids fair to exist for many months.

In commenting on the remarkable demand for trucks, John I. Judd, local Grasm-Bernstein distributor, says: "The public has awakened to the fact that the motor truck will solve many of the transportation troubles and at the same time do a big service to the country by releasing practically for all time freight [illegible] which have heretofore been used [illegible] short hauls.

During the Winter it was found that the only way to insure a prompt delivery of goods was to use the motor trucks, and the merchants found this method so satisfactory that they will in all probability continue to use trucks even if the railroads should get back to normal conditions.

BETTER AND CHEAPER SERVICE.

"This means a larger and larger demand for trucks each year, and we are feeling, and in fact for some time have felt, the pulse of this increased demand. The small merchant is using one light delivery truck, possibly of the Smith Form-a-Truck type, where before he kept several horses. He has found his deliveries have been more efficient, and that the cost of upkeep has been reduced.

"In my opinion, manufacturers and merchants never will go back to railroads for short haul deliveries. The motor truck has proven its superiority."

* * *

"Fire departments using motor truck equipment—as most of them now do—demand one quality above all others—reliability—and the constantly increasing demand for Maxwell trucks for this work is a distinct recognition of its sturdiness of construction and its suitability for this service," says C. E. Fay, local Maxwell distributor.

DEPENDABLE QUALITIES.

"Every section of the country is now numbered in the long list of Maxwell users for fire-fighting work and reports of performances are most satisfactory, both to the company and to the municipalities which are using the trucks. Fire chiefs are most enthusiastic over the always-dependable qualities of the Maxwell."

* * *

In inter-city motor truck transportation the successful operation of any line depends largely upon securing a return load. Quite a number of privately owned lines would be inaugurated immediately were it not for the difficulty in securing return loads regularly. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, O., which operates a motor truck line from that city to Boston, is not confronted by this problem, as the company has a large cotton fabric mill at Goodyear, Conn., from which the trucks bring back cargoes of cotton fabric for use in manufacturing tires and other rubber products.

American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co.

The Directors of the American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Company have declared a regular quarterly dividend of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per share on the preferred capital stock, payable May 1, 1918, to stockholders of record April 29, 1918.

JAILED AS RESULT OF ATTACK ON A CAR

Charged with being disorderly on a Boston Elevated car Saturday evening, Michael E. Harkins, of No. 113½ Rice street, Mattapan, was convicted in the South Boston Court and sentenced to one month in the House of Correction. For assaulting Motorman Cornelius Moynihan, he was given a month and for intoxication an additional month. He appealed.

The trouble occurred about 11:39 Saturday night on a Summer-street extension car.

Bill Provides Bureau to Train Disabled Soldiers

The establishment by the State Board of Education of a bureau for the training of soldiers and sailors who may be permanently injured in the war was authorized by a bill reported in the Senate today by the legislative Committee on Education.

The bill would also include the men and women who are crippled or injured in industrial accidents.

Its purpose is to provide them with a training that would equip them to earn a livelihood.

The report by the committee is based on petitions filed with the Legislature by Representative William H. McDonnell of South Boston and by the State Board of Education.

DORCHESTER BOY IS KILLED IN FRANCE

Private Harry Kramer, twenty-one, a member of Company H, 101st Infantry, is dead in France, making the second Dorchester young man to give his life for the cause of democracy the present month. His mother, Mrs. Annie Kramer of No. 41 Lucern street, Mattapan, was notified that her son was killed by accident by the War Department.

Young Kramer was at the border last year with the "Old Ninth," as was also his brother, Sam Kramer, a member of the same regiment, who is also now in France on the fighting line.

ALL HEBREWS IN MILFORD BUY BONDS

Milford, April 16.—More than eight thousand dollars has been obtained in subscriptions here for the third Liberty Loan by the committee representing the Hebrew residents, it being said that every family in the town has subscribed.

There are more than fifty families in the grouping. Samuel Klass, Marcus W. Rose and Abraham Volk are the committee in charge.

QUITS COMMERCE CHAMBER FOR PAINE FURNITURE CO.

J. Paul Foster, Secretary of the Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and Assistant Secretary of the Chamber, has given up these duties to become assistant manager of the Paine Furniture Company. He is succeeded as secretary of the Retail Trade Board of the Chamber of Commerce by Thomas M. B. Hicks Jr., former secretary of the Cambridge Board of Trade. Mr. Foster was graduated from Boston University in 1913 and then from the Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard University. He worked his way through both.

On a Stone in the Ruins Was Written "I Will Rise Again"

That Stone Is the Foundation of St. Paul's Cathedral. A Good Thing for Discouraged Men to Remember

Copyright, 1918, by the Star Company

Here is part of a letter, "Everything seems to have gone wrong with me. I have tried, but failed, and am discouraged—(follows a line of discouraging detail—and then this)—"Where in such a ruined life can I find hope?"

Here is one answer:

Nearly every successful man, at one time or another, might have written just such a letter as you have written.

Napoleon would have written it when he was thinking of suicide—and a hundred other famous men when THEY were thinking of suicide.

Gibbon might have written it when he was fat, eating and drinking too much, getting old, having accomplished nothing.

The persevering Frenchman who reduced his wife and children to starvation and burned up the last piece of furniture.in his house before making his porcelain oven werk and achieving fame might have written such a letter with good reasons.

Nearly all men, as a matter of fact, consider themselves failures, even after they succeed—especially the best men.

The average newspaper man or writer imagines that he ought to be a statesman—he is usually mistaken.

The great statesman, Richelieu, imagined that he ought to write poetry. He was mistaken.

He suggested to the greatest French writer that he, Richelieu, would write a play and sign Moliere's name to it, thus learning what the public really thought. "I can tell you," said Moliere. "The public will say, 'Moliere has gone crazy.'"

Joe Jefferson, the actor, thought his career ruined because he went on the stage when he ought to have been a great painter.

He kept on acting well and painting badly until he died.

To the man who asks "Where among the ruins can I find something that will give hope," we recommend the well known story about Sir Christopher Wren, who built the Cathedral of St. Paul, in London, after the big fire had destroyed nearly all of the city.

The site was selected, and it was arranged to tax the coal that passed up the Thames to find money to build the Cathedral. Wren began looking around among the ruins.

Among stones blackened by fire was one, and written on it in Latin: "I will rise again."

That was the first stone used in the building of the big Cathedral, in which Wren now lies buried.

Wren, a really great architect, might also have been discouraged.

For building St. Paul's Cathedral, climbing up and down ladders, struggling with a dishonest king and dishonest builders, he received the magnificent sum of twenty dollars a week—and often had to wait for his money.

As Wren picked out of the blackened ruins the stone on which the courageous words were written, so every discouraged man may find somewhere among the ruins of the past a fragment with the words "I will rise again."

If he will take that for his foundation and add will power to it he WILL rise again.

Nothing is hopeless, nothing overcomes the human will.

Milton, blind, wrote what will live for centuries.

Beethoven, stone deaf, unable to hear a note of the orchestra when he conducted his own music, created his most magnificent works when he could no longer hear a sound.

Pope wrote his noble Essay On Man when he was so weak and helpless that he had to be sewed up in a canvas jacket every day and have a nurse to undress him and put him to bed.

Old Socrates was a strange combination—his father a sculptor, his mother a midwife, himself a philosopher spending his life trying to make better men of the Greeks.

By way of reward they condemned him to drink hemlock, the poison that kills you with a numbness beginning at the feet and gradually reaching to the heart.

He talked placidly and earnestly—his last instalment of philosophy—while the poison did its work. He was not discouraged when he told his judges he was more fortunate than they. He still lives.

No man can be destroyed by anything except his will or lack of will.

The famous Cranmer, in fear of his life, signed twice a recantation of his religious beliefs.

Then he recanted his denial, and went to the stake to be burned alive. To show that he regretted having denied his faith, he held his right hand into the fire until it was burned, thus proving that fire couldn't conquer him, and establishing his reputation permanently.

As the great Christopher Wren found IN THE RUINS the first stone used in his new Cathedral, so the discouraged man may find in what he considers a ruined life the foundation for a new success.

One man finds it in wounded vanity. He must fall low and be kicked before he rises and really tries.

Another finds it in affection for his children. One of the most successful professional men in the United States was looked upon as a hopeless drunkard, practically in the gutter.

One night he came home—by accident—sober. He saw for the first time that his children feared him and ran when he appeared. Said he, "If that is so, I will drink no more."

He kept his word.

Out of every wreck something is left, something that can be used for building—like that stone in the ruins on the site of St. Paul's.

They even say—we doubt it—that you can take from an Egyptian mummy grain that has been buried for centuries and make it sprout.

Certain it is that you can take from the human soul, however discouraged, downcast, begrimed and weary, a hope, a determination, a thought that will blossom and make life worthwhile again.

We could fill this entire newspaper with names, printed in smallest type, of those whose success has really begun with that which seemed hopeless discouragement and failure.

Take for your motto the words that Wren found on the blackened stone, "I will rise again." You CAN do it.

ALL SHOULD PROVE NEED TO SECURE PENSION

By William H. O'Brien

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Regarding our recent conversation concerning my campaign for Congress in the Twelfth District, I want to make myself perfectly clear concerning the issue.

As I said to you, I am not fighting any individual except so far as there may be candidates in that contest who have had the opportunity to help improve our human conditions and have completely failed in that responsibility. My fight is for a fundamental principle of American government; namely, that no single dollar of the public funds of any town, city, State, or the nation itself, shall be given over in the form of a pension to any man or woman who cannot prove that they need such assistance.

The new law, the so-called mothers' pension act, requires the honorable, decent widow, with dependent young children, to prove her necessity by producing every single scrap of expenses that she has incurred since the death of her husband, and every single available cent, before she is allotted a small pension.

Compel Justice

Is it any more humiliating to compel a justice of the Supreme Court or any other public official, like myself, to do the same thing if they have not been able to lay aside something for their old age out of their salaries during years of permanent employment as against the uncertainty of private employment which averages less than seven months a year?

A pension system which gives to judges and State and city employes with steady jobs a pension, simply because of having served a certain number of years, whether they be worth five dollars or five million, and consigns the man and the woman in the uncertain employments of life, whose labors have helped to build the nation, to a pauper institution, with the criminal brand of pauper upon them, must be wiped off the statute books.

God in heaven! Think of a system in this otherwise wonderful nation of ours that takes away the right of citizenship, the greatest privilege ever given to man to enjoy under the sun, from those who, because of circumstances over which they have no control, are obliged to ask for public assistance!

That's what Article 3, amendment to the Constitution of Massachusetts, does.

Wipe Out Present Laws

But, thank God, just as soon as we put the Initiative and Referendum upon the statute books, all hell, the human selfishness of the fellow who now has his fingers in the public crib in the shape of a pension and doesn't need it, or expects to get them there, won't stop the wiping out of the present laws regarding pensions paid to those who do not need them or the placing upon the statute books of the nation an equitable, just old age pension system which shall provide a just recognition by the nation and the States thereof of all honorable service in employment, whether it be of a public or private character, no pension to be granted to any person except upon proof of need, with generous provision at all times for injury, sickness or death, in dangerous occupations, public or private.

May I cite just one specific case to illustrate my idea of a square deal? My sister is completing in June, I think, her forty-third year as a teacher in the public schools of Gloucester. She recently asked me if I felt she would be entitled to a pension because of that long service, and my answer was unqualifiedly no, unless she could prove she needed it. I told her further that if she were entitled to it because of a certain period of service that her neighbor across the street who had worked thirty-five or forty years in private employment, and every American fisherman who went down to the sea in ships to produce the food for the millions of workers, the same as my father did for upward of forty years out of Gloucester and Boston, were entitled to the same consideration.

Thanking you for your many generous expressions of approval of my work in the Legislature and elsewhere. I am, sincerely,

WILLIAM H. O'BRIEN.
Hinckley street, Dorchester.

MONEY-MAD SLAVES OF GOLDEN GREED

By Winifred Black

DID you read about the man who killed his mother-in-law and his sister-in-law and his brother-in-law and himself the other day, all because his dead wife had willed some property to her relatives that the man thought he ought to have?

Nice, generous, free-hearted, noble creature, wasn't he? And so wise, too. The property will do him so much good, now that he is in his grave, and it will hurt the relatives so much not to have it.

What in the world gets into people that they attach so much importance to affairs that aren't in the least important at all?

Now, if the man had killed himself because he had been unkind to his wife and could not bear to think of the way she tried to forgive him, and how loving and patient she was, and how hard she worked, and how selfish and cruel he had been, we could understand that, perhaps. He could get away from his remorse and his memory—or at least he might think he could.

But property—what earthly good is a piece of land when the only thing you are going to plant in the ground is hate and malice, and envy, a mean triumph and a small jealousy?

Went Money Crazy

What's it all about, this money affair we make so much fuss over?

I know a man who is very rich indeed—oh, so rich that all his relatives lie to him and flatter him, and cajole him and coax him, and hate him and wish he was dead. And all he has ever bought with his money is a bag of golf sticks and a chronic indigestion.

They say he was a nice boy, too—before he grew up and learned how to get rich.

He was quite clever and very quick-witted, and good-natured, and so kind that he would sit up all night to take care of a sick kitten, and walk miles in the rain to mend a dog's broken leg.

He was fond of his father and very good to his mother, and proud of his little brothers and sisters, and he always had a pet squirrel and two or three dogs, and every cat in town knew which way to run when the boys from below the tracks began practicing with their slingshots—and he wouldn't let the boys he played with rob the birds' nests, though he liked to look at the blue speckled eggs and the little white and brown ones, too, as well as any of them, but somehow he could never bear to hear the mother bird when she came home and found her eggs were gone.

And once, when his teacher's little boy was ill, and the teacher was old and very poor and had no one to help him at home, the little boy who grew up to be a rich man went home with the teacher every afternoon and helped take care of the sick child all night.

Everyone loved him and thought he was going to be a wonderful man—they'll tell you about it in the village yet.

Then—all at once—he found out about money, and he went crazy over it, like a man who never saw the ocean and who wanted to, and to swim in it, sail on it, and fish in it and live by it all the rest of his life the first day he saw the blue water and the white foam—and the man who used to be a kind, human being, with high hopes and bright dreams, went crazy about money.

What He Learned

He threw away his heart and bartered his soul, and narrowed his mind and put chains on his spirit, and all he got in exchange was a lot of money that will be fought over by his whole family before he has been in his grave twenty-four hours.

I saw him the other day, and from the look in his tired, cynical, lonesome eyes I believe he'd be willing to throw all the gold into the streets and tear up all the bills into pieces and to burn all the bonds and notes and mortgages in a great bonfire, if he could only get back some real friendship and real love and real fidelity, even from his own family.

The man who killed all those people the other day in a petty quarrel over money—just as his spirit went out of his body—did he look back and see, at last, I wonder?
